SCHOOLS CLOSED BY RAINS; ROADS, HOUSES DAMAGED

Sweeping from the southeast with sudden fury, a rain and wind storm lashed New England today, flooding highways, crippling sea and air transportation and closing the schools in 25 Greater Boston communities.

Clearing weather before nightfall was forecast, to be followed by dropping temperatures and clear skies tomorrow and Sunday.

SAYS WATER NEEDED

James E. Lawrence, maintenance engineer of the State Department of Public Works, said the storm was "helpful" and there was no danger of floods.

"Water supplies in reservoirs and rivers throughout the State are low," he pointed out. "This rain is needed."

He said there was four to six inches of snow in the western part of the State, and a half inch of rain in the east.

State police reported one major traffic tieup, on Route 9 in Haydonville, where 18 inches of rain under an overpass held up autos.

FEAR FLOOD ON CAPE

Police also were watching underpasses on Routes 5 and 10 in Deerfield and Hadley, where minor floods were gathering.

State Police in East Fairhaven and Mattapoisset, on the Cape, said a heavy sea was running before a strong wind, with a flood tide due, and patrols were out warning residents in low-lying areas that flood waters were due.

"It won't be anywhere nearly as bad as in 1938," officials said, "but it's bad enough."

Boston airlines were flying out of the airport, and said they would continue to operate on schedule unless the weather changed for the worse.

The storm hit hardest in New York State, where it was reported as the worst of the year. Many towns had a blanket of snow 18 inches deep.

In Chittenango, N. Y., the roofs of St. Paul's Episcopal parish hall and a garage collapsed and five autos were wrecked. In Rome a four-hour freezing rain felled trees and power line poles.

As the storm moved north, rain changed to sleet with slush in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

WARN SHIPS OF GALE

Throughout Massachusetts, however, rain and thaw made rivers of streets and highways.

The state Public Works Department sent emergency crews to 32 highway stations at key points in the Commonwealth.

Southeast storm warnings were flying from Delaware Breakwater to Boston, with shipping warned

MASS EVACUATION OF FINNS STARTED

HELSINKI, March 15—The Finnish army slogged through the snows today in funereal retreat, beginning its withdrawal from the fronts it so stubbornly defended in three and one-half months of war but which now are ceded to Soviet Russia.

Ahead of the soldiers there hurried 100,000 dispossessed civilians. They traveled by automobile, wagon and train or on foot, herding their livestock before them and carrying bundles that were the salvage of personal property.

These 100,000 bring to about 460,000 the number who must find new homes. A half-million persons already are refugees, but 140,000 of them are from battered territories which Finland retains and to which they will be able to return.

While the Red Army held its positions, marking time until Finnish troops have fallen back the required seven kilometers (about four and one-half miles) in one day, the Finnish withdrawal started at 10 a. m. Along a zig-zag 226-mile front in the southeast, extending from the Virlahti archipelago on the Gulf of Finland to the Russian frontier northeast of Lake Ladoga.

Empty husks of villages and towns silent as death await advancing Russian troops.

HELSINKI, March 15 (INS)

On the stroke of noon today, Russian troops formally occupied the city of Viipuri, from which the last Finn had departed only a short time before. Evacuation of the Hango peninsula was in full swing with hundreds of residents removing their furniture and other supplies on trucks and sleds.

At the same time, in accordance with the peace treaty, Russian troops began withdrawal from occupied areas of far northern Finland just south of Petsamo.

Hitler, Stalin Plan 'Blitzpeace' Drive

LONDON, March 15 (INS)—Chancellor Hitler and Dictator Josef Stalin are planning a "blitzpeace offensive," the London Daily Express reported from Copenhagen today.

But the diplomatic correspondent of the London Daily Sketch wrote that American Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles, who is scheduled to confer again with Premier Mussolini in Rome before returning to the United United States, will report to President Roosevelt that the chances are 1000 to one against a negotiated peace in Europe under the present circumstances.

According to a Copenhagen report to the Daily Telegraph, political circles in Berlin said German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop soon will go to Moscow for joint Russo-German policy talks and to peace drive.

press said as part of the "blitzpeace offensive" Russian workers have been ordered to open a campaign of appeals to workers in the United States in the hope of bringing pressure upon the Allies.

Basing its information on a Berlin dispatch to the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken, the Express listed four steps in the Russo-German "lightning peace" drive as follows:

1—A Russo-Italian trade agreement along the lines of the Russo-German pact. (The Russian embassy in Rome yesterday denied negotiations for such a pact were under way.)

2—A Russo-Rumanian non-aggression pact.

3—A Russo-Turkish peace pact. HINTS F. D. VISIT?

4—Efforts to swing Turkey away from her alliance with the Anglo-French Allies.

Hitler, said the dispatch, is aiming to insure Scandinavian and Balkan supplies to Germany to give him time to build up trade

Connolly Rests Case In Job Trial

The defense rested in the Connolly-Conway case today as final evidence was heard in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court, where former Clerk of Civil Courts John Patrick Connolly and his alleged "goodwill fund" collector, William T. Conway, are on trial on charges of extortion and conspiracy.

MRS. RUTH WRIGHT OF EAST BOSTON
Waits 'n' Waits for Word With Hubby

Concluding witnesses were five prominent Boston men, including Governor's Councilor Daniel H. Coakley.

They testified they loaned Conway a total of $3400—without security or written record—in 1936, just before the September primaries in which Connolly was nominated for the Suffolk civil courts clerkship.

Judge George F. Leary said he would devote the rest of today to consideration of motions and exceptions, and would hear arguments of counsel tomorrow.

Indications were the case would go to the locked-up jury early Monday, after Judge Leary's charge.

REVERSES RULING

Reversing a previous decision, Judge Leary admitted in evidence Connolly's testimony Wednesday that he resigned from office, under fire by the Boston Bar Ass'n, because he "wanted to have Bill Foley (the district attorney) and Paul Dever (the attorney-general) from libel and scandal."

The judge said he had conferred with counsel on admissability of the Connolly statement and he now felt the jury should consider it.

Today's final witnesses were called by Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Conway.

Their testimony was offered in support of Conway's claim that he accepted "voluntary donations" from Connolly's office employes to help pay off personal debts he said he incurred to defray "incidental expenses" of Connolly's campaign.

Coakley, whose appearance on the stand was brief, was the first witness in the Conway defense and he was in the role of a character witness.

The councilor said he loaned Conway the $450 in two sums, $300 at one time and $150 at another.

"I received it back three or four months after I gave it to

Daddy on Jury And Ma on Spot

Papa, dear papa, oh, where are you now?—

That might be the song sung today by Mrs. Ruth Wright of Byron st., East Boston—whose painter husband, Basil, is on the locked-up jury hearing the John Patrick Connolly case since a week ago Monday—and her three children.

Mrs. Wright has been sitting in the spectators' benches in Suffolk Court since the case started; she cannot speak to her husband, nor send him a note, nor do more, perhaps, than just wink.

The couple have three children, Robert, eight; Ronald, five; and Janice, two.

"The kids are all wondering what has become of their father," she said today. 'They keep asking for him. They can't understand the situation at all."

Man Accused Of Killing Boy By Beating

STOCKTON, Cal., March 15 (AP)—A beating with a rope and the shock of other mistreatment killed two-year-old Henry Insunza, authorities reported today.

The child's body was discovered yesterday in the bathroom of the home of John Suarez, 48, Stockton relief worker, with whom Henry and his one-year-old brother, Manuel, and four-year-old sister, Angela, had been left two months ago.

Donald Boscoe, assistant district attorney, said Suarez, charged with murder, told him he had "a little trouble" with the children and had whipped them with rope.

Suarez and his wife, Antonia, 45, told authorities they had kept the children at their home since January 4, when their mother left them there saying she would be back "in a day or two." Mrs. Suarez was held on a charge of investigation of murder.

Authorities said the parents of the children were Mr. and Mrs Robert Insunza of Fresno.

'Wed 17 Years, Enough!' Cries Woman in Leap

TRENTON, N. J., March 15 (AP)—Police and firemen grappled in the Delaware and Raritan canal today for the body of an unidentified woman who was reported to have shouted, "I have been married 17 years, and that's enough," before leaping into the stream.

The woman, leaving an umbrella and a bottle of disinfectant behind, fell about 35 feet.

Walter Czarnecki told police he approached the bridge and urged the woman not to leap, but she shouted back her reference to married life and plunged into the canal.

Hedy Sets New Hair-do Style

HOLLYWOOD, March 15 (AP)—Look for a change in hair styles, girls—Hedy Lamarr has trimmed her raven locks.

Miss Lamarr, who popularized the shoulder-length bob, had her hair cut four inches shorter for a new film role. It is still parted in the center, but the ends, no longer permitted to fly free, are curled and turned under.

Woman With Neck Broken Bears Child

BALTIMORE, March 15 (AP)—A 22-year-old woman whose neck was broken in a fall a month ago gave birth today to an eight-pound eleven-ounce boy in Franklin Square Hospital.

The mother, wife of Dr. D. T. Battaglia, and her son were reported "doing nicely." Mrs. Battaglia was rushed to the hospital Feb. 16 after she fell down stairs at her home. An examination showed a fractured vertebrae.

A special collar-like device was arranged to keep her head and neck immovable. Dr. Henry F. Ulrich, a bone specialist, and Dr. J. Morris Reese, an obstetrician, kept her under constant observation.

"I suffered very little," Mrs. Battaglia said, commenting on the birth of her child. Dr. Battaglia heaved a sight of relief and said, "I'm glad it's over!"

GIRL TRAPS RADIO TALENT SUSPECT

How a quick-witted 15-year-old Cambridge girl helped trap a man posing as a "talent scout" was revealed by Cambridge police today when the man was charged with larceny.

Also outstanding against Charles Fairbrother, 40, and married, of Cypress st., Newton, are warrants issued by East Boston, Chelsea and North End police, Cambridge officials said.

Fairbrother, who will appear in East Cambridge court tomorrow, is also known as Charles H. Bullard of Brock ave., Roxbury, police asserted.

Following a system he is alleged to have used to victimize scores of parents in Greater Boston, officers charge, Fairbrother approached Mrs. Laura Salash, 36, at her home in Stevens ct., East Cambridge.

He explained he was seeking talent for a nationally-known hosiery company to produce a children's radio hour, and asked Mrs. Salash if she had any children.

Mrs. Salash told officers her daughter works for a radio station and she became suspicious. She told the man to return, investigated, then made a complaint to police.

The man returned while officers were away, but a quick-witted neighbor girl, Florence Mangone of Gore st., East Cambridge, perceived the situation when she came to talk to Mrs. Salash, and called police.

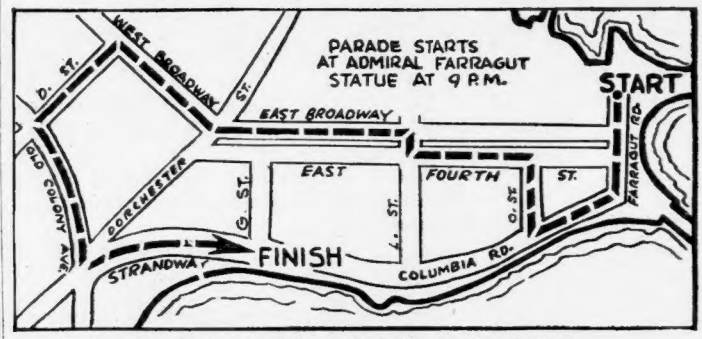
Horribles Parade Ushers In Evacuation Day Fete



MAP OF SOUTH BOSTON "HORRIBLES" PARADE TONIGHT

3000 to Parade in Prelude to Evacuation Day Celebration

Although declared off on the wrong foot, the "Horribles" parade will wind its comic and grotesque way through South Boston streets tonight as scheduled.

Precedent-shattering, the procession, which starts at 9 p. m., is a sort of preview of the principal Evacuation Day parade tomorrow afternoon.

Some 3000 persons and numerous bands will be in the line of march which will originate at the Admiral Farragut statue, City Point, move to Columbia rd., to O st., to East Fourth st., to L st., to Broadway to D st., to Old Colony ave., and thence to the Strandway and G st.

Protesting over recent publicity given to the parade, many organizations have announced they will not participate, but Chief Marshal Edward J. "Knocko" McCormack said their absence will not offer any serious setback.

A "Horribles" parade is not a suitable way to celebrate a historic event, the organizations protested.

But "Knocko" ruled that no nudity wil be tolerated and that costumes must not be offensive.

Some 100 policemen will be on hand to direct traffic.

Prizes totaling $260 are being offered for the best band units.

At 11 p. m., a fireworks display, another Evacuation Day innovation, is scheduled to be held at G st. and Columbia rd.

BEACON TO LIBERTY

At the 35th annual dinner of the South Boston Citizens' Ass'n at Hotel Westminster, Registrar of Deeds W. T. A. Fitzgerald said the annual celebration of Evacuation Day should serve as a beacon to "all liberty-loving people." He continued:

"The annual celebration of Evacuation Day should serve to inform the youth of each generation of the struggle and faith of the forefathers which resulted in the establishment of the greatest democracy of free and liberty-loving people that the world has ever known, and it should instill in their young hearts the burning desire and firm purpose to continue this democracy until the end of time."

The Hibernian building in Roxbury was rocked with old Irish tunes and modern "swing" music as the Central Council of Irish County Associations held its 35th annual St. Patrick's Day ball.

The climax of the festivities came at the grand march, which was led by Thomas J. Carroll, council president, who was accompanied by his niece, Miss Rita C. Carroll, and by John McDonald, past president, who was accompanied by his daughter, Elizabeth. Mayor Tobin was among prominent city officials on hand.

CITES LOYALTY

In the Parker Hill Library, Roxbury, meanwhile, former State Representative Thomas Dorgan, city legislative agent, cited the loyalty of Irish-Americans to their adopted country. Addressing the adult recreation center, Dorgan declared that 175,000 Irishmen fought on the Union side in the Civil War, many of them winning high honors.

Scheduled for tomorrow night is a St. Patrick's Day program arranged by the St. Alphousus Association, to be held at Mission Church parish hall, Roxbury. Harry McGowan, well known actor, will lead 12 acts of professional vaudeville.

Attack on Aged Woman Hangs 2

BALTIMORE, Md., March 15 (INS)—Two men were executed by hanging at the Maryland State Penitentiary here early this morning for criminally attacking and robbing Mrs. Peter Aikens, 73-year-old resident of Talbot County on the Maryland eastern shore last September.

Thomas C. Sanchez, 39, supposedly a Mexican citizen, and Alvin Kenton, 32, both of whom lived near Templeville on the eastern shore, paid the supreme penalty. There were reports the Mexican government interceded in an effort to spare Sanchez' life.

Warden Patrick Brady supervised the hangings.

Testimony was given at the trial of the pair that they also tortured Mrs. Aikens, robbed the Aiken home and then assaulted the aged woman.

'OOMPH' GIRL FORGIVES ALL, BEGS BOYS CALL OFF DUEL

Lovely Ann Sheridan isn't the kind of girl who holds a grudge, bless her heart, and today she told the Boston Evening American, in a transcontinental telephone interview from California, that she's forgiven the Harvard Lampoon.

ANN SHERIDAN

She's forgiven the Lampoon and its editor for the ungentlemanly crack they made about her when she was dubbed, in the Lampoon's columns, as the motion picture actress "most unlikely to succeed."

And she's not in favor at all, Ann said, of a duel over her between Roy S. Fox, Jr., editor of the Yale Record, and Russell Bowie, editor of the Lampoon.

Fox flung Bowie a telegraphed challenge to duel, European style, when word of the Lampoon's crass attitude toward An reached New Haven.

"I'm not in favor of the duel," Ann said over the phone from Warner Brothers Burbank Studios, just outside Hollywood.

"I don't think the matter's worth fighting over. Besides, I wouldn't want to see the Lampoon editor get hurt. (A little nostalgic dig there.) I'm sure he's a very nice boy at heart.

"I've forgiven him—so why shouldn't the Yale Record?

"If there must be a duel, I have a suggestion for weapons. Let them fight it out with snowballs. I understand there's still plenty of snow up there—and wouldn't I love to see it.

"But seriously, I'd like to have them call the duel off. I feel that I'm not worth it."

Ann said she has accepted an invitation from James McDonald, captain-elect of Boston University's football squad, to attend, with him, the Boston Press Photographers' ball on March 27.

McDonald told her, in another transcontinental telephone call, that the Boston University football lads, Lampoon or no Lampoon, look upon her as their favorite actress.

ACCEPTS INVITATION

The "Oomph Girl"—and Ann herself doesn't know what oomph means—also revealed that she's accepted the invitation of Peter Saltonstall, the governor's son, to go to the movies here.

It is hardly coincidence that the feature picture that night—March 28—will be Ann's latest picture, "It All Came True," having its world premiere at the Paramount Theater.

Ann got pretty mad when the Lampoon let that crack go about her and she fired back with some statistics about Harvard men.

"Statistics show," she said at that time, "the average inmate of that school earns less than $5000 a year 25 years after getting out of it. They wouldn't average that if it weren't for some millionaires."

SHE DOES PRETTY WELL

She pointed out that she herself, 25 years old and only five years out of college, earns $100,000 a year.

"Did you really look up all those statistics about Harvard men yourself," she was asked today, "or did some friend or press agent dig them up for you?"

"I looked most of them up myself," she replied. "I wanted to be very careful of my facts. A friend of mine—a boy friend—helped me a little, but there was no press agent involved.

"When I want to find out anything, I like to find it out myself."

She then was asked if she really hadn't met some nice Harvard men since becoming a movie star.

"I certainly have," she agreed. "I've met some wonderful Harvard men. And I don't blame them for anything the Lampoon said about me. That was the editor's responsibility, not Harva d's.

"And when I come to Boston, I'll be glad to show that I appreciate what really nice men there are at Harvard."

WHAT IS "OOMPH"

To settle the question once and for all, Ann was asked what "Oomph" is or what her definition is for it, but going to headquarters like that didn't unearth much more not already known.

"I have no definition," she admitted. "It's beyond me. I don't know what it means, and I never did."

"Is it something you just have or haven't got? She was asked.

"I guess that's the answer," said Ann. "You have it or you haven't. It was never made clear to me just what it meant."

An said she isn't sure yet whether she can be in Princeton's cheering section next November, urging its football boys to smear Harvard.

'SISTER OF PRINCETON'

When she placed the Yale and Princeton lads above the Crimson aftr the Lampoon crack, Assemblyman Thomas M. Muir of New Jersey had a resolution passed by the Jersey legislature.

It stipulated that she should be given "a position of honor and prominence in the Princeton cheering section."

Today she telegraphed Assemblyman Muir, saying:

"I am proud and grateful for your resolution in the Assembly, adopting me as a daughter of New Jersey and a sister of Princeton. You could not have presented me with a nicer set of relatives."

Rockefeller Pours Oil on Matrimony Sea

NEW YORK, March 15—Bracketed in a "yes and no—well, maybe" position today was the reported impending marriage of Winthrop Rockefeller and Julie Brown Colt, pretty divorced wife of Samuel G. Colt of Pittsfield, Mass.

Winthrop Rockefeller

In a mellow mood, the handsome son of John D., Jr., turned away momentarily from the heavy study of oil to the light language of love as he replied to the rumors.

Young Rockefeller, 27, one of America's most eligible bachelors, had just returned from an airplane trip to San Francisco, where he had spent two days with the gay divorcee. She herself had flown from Los Angeles just to be at his side for two days.

"Aren't men in leap year entitled to the same passivity in matters of the heart as women in other years?" Rockefeller asked smilingly at his office.

"Therefore, a leap year's 'no' from a man may mean 'not yet,' or whatever else it may signify from someone who hasn't yet received a proposal."

Queried whether he meant she hadn't proposed yet, he replied:

"That's right—not yet!"

At her Beverly Hills, Calif., home, the divorcee indicated the romance would not languish through a lack of feminine initiative.

She is the attractive girl who appeared in Cape Cod two summers ago in a gold-plated Packard roadster which glistened with chromium gadgets and a fire bell.

She also financed a stock company at Marshfield Hills, Mass.

"We are very good friends," she purred to a reporter over the telephone.

"I've known Rocky (her pet name for him) for several years, even before I was divorced in 1938.

"While I was in New York getting my divorce, he was very kind to me. Since I've been out here, he's phoned me from New York a lot and every time I'm feeling lonely—I phone him.

"I flew up to San Francisco because he suggested it, when he was in Los Angeles. Down here, he said it would be impossible for us to see each other without reporters hanging around."

Father Finds Baby Dead in Carriage

A youthful Cambridge father found his four-months-old son dead in his carriage in front of the family home in Austin pl. today.

Richard Flaherty called police and told them he had come out of his house some time after his wife had put the baby in the carriage for its daily airing.

"Little Mark looked all right to me," the heart-broken parent said, "but when I picked him up I felt he wasn't breathing."

Police said that Medical Examiner Dr. David C. Dow would perform an autopsy later in the day.

WIFE'S TRYSTS FREE HIM; 'RIVALS' IN OTHER TRIALS

Though his wife told him she was going to see a "girl friend" when she left their home three nights a week, when he finally trailed her and surprised her in a parked car it was not a woman with whom she sat, Albert W. Flynn, 25, testified in Suffolk Probate Court today.

Flynn, who lives in Bailey ave., Milton, with his mother, told Judge John V. Mahoney:

"I became suspicious of my wife because I noticed she always got into an auto parked about a block away from our house and drove away. Then she'd come back about midnight in an intoxicated condition.

"One night I got my brother, Bill, and we followed her. She got into a car with a man and we trailed them to several taverns in the Back Bay. At each one my wife got out with the man and went in."

SURPRISED IN AUTO

Finally, Flynn went on, the car was headed toward Forest Hills.

"We saw it turn down an alley behind a building. We went a little way and parked. We gave them about 15 minutes, then we went back.

"My wife was getting up to a sitting position in the front seat when I pulled open the door. Her clothing was disarranged, as was the clothing of the man with her.

"She shouted to him: 'That's not my husband!' when she saw me, and he and I got into a fight.

"Then I went home and moved over to my mother's house."

All the time the wife had been going out previously, Flynn emphasized, he had had to stay at home and take care of their 3-year-old son.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Judge Mahoney granted Flynn an uncontested divorce from Elizabeth Flynn, and granted him custody of the child.

Blond, attractive Lillian Tobey, 29, of Tewsbury av., Winthrop, won a decree when told Judge Mahone her husband, Albert, whom she married in 1936, had absolutely refused to work.

"When I told him at least to go into Boston and look for work, he told me he'd rather stay at home and read a good book," she said.

The trouble with her marriage, 33-year-old Jane E. Hosford of a Back Bay hotel testified, was that she and her husband, Howard, both worked for her parents.

"He thought that he ought to be making more money than I was making," she testified. "It used to make him sore."

On April 19, 1939, after watching the Marathon, she returned home, she said, and her husband wanted to go out; but she was too tired.

"He got so mad he hit me," she asserted.

She also won a decree.

LEARNS ABOUT RIVAL

When she went to her mother-in-law's home to find out why her husband had not been home the night before, Mrs. Ruth M. Randall of Washington at., Roxbury, testified, her husband's mother said calmly:

"Why, Edward must have been out with his other girl."

Mrs Ruth Randall said she found her husband had been going out with another woman, and that he finally, in 1937, left her and she has not heard of him since except when she read in a newspaper that he had been in an auto accident with the "ther girl" in Miami.

She was granted her divorce as were three other women who alleged cruel and abusive treatment on the parts of their husbands:

OTHER DIVORCES

Mrs. Evelyn M. Brown of Eustis st., Roxbury, who testified she had been married 37 years and recently her husband, Charles, formed the habit of going off for week-ends "to get drunk" then came home and beat her.

Mrs. Lillian Delaney, 30, of Cambridge st., Allston, who told Judge Mahoney, Clifford Delaney not only wouldn't work, but when she was working would visit her place of business and beat her.

"So I had no job, too," she said, weeping on the stand.

And Edna M. Fearon of Fairview st., Roslindale:

"My husband told me he'd rather sleep in the attic than with me," she said. "He slept in the attic from July to Christmas in 1938."

Wigglesworth Raps Deal

Millions of unemployed after seven years of fabulous pump-priming is the great issue of 1940, Congressman Richard B. Wigglesworth (R.) of Milton, said today in a preview of the national campaign. He spoke before a luncheon rally of the Women's Republican Club in Quincy.

"After seven years of the New Deal, after the expenditure of more than 56 billions of dollars, we still are confronted by the tragic fact that some ten million men and women are unemployed and that approximately seventeen millions of our people still are on the public relief rolls," Wigglesworth said. "This is the practical result which confronts us. The New Deal has failed to solve the problem of recovery."

Wigglesworth urged people to be on guard against attempts to project international affairs as a smoke-screen covering failures in domestic policies.

6 DEAD, 8 INJURED IN CAROLINA FIRE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 15 (AP)—Six persons, including four women and a child, were killed and eight were injured, several critically, in an early morning fire whic hspread rapidly through a section of teh 86-unit Guthery apartments here today.

The dead were:

Mrs. Hazelle E. Martin, Miss Rowena Dickinson, 26, Mrs. H. R. Ely, 32; Miss Lucy Walton, 43; Tommy Charity, 15, son of Mrs. Winifred Charity, and Edward Martin, 21, a student.

Two of the victims were injured fatally in jumps from the blazing building.

Firemen who reached the scene shortly before 2 a. m. found the block-long, three-story brick and stone structure a blazing inferno, with many persons, clad in their night clothes, trapped on the upper two stories.

Ambulances sped the dying and injured to hospitals as 100 firemen fought the conflagration.

The fire apparently started in the basement. Fire Chief Hendrix Palmer said. However, he was at a loss to explain how the blaze spread so quickly. When the first alarm came in, the entire half of the big building was in flames.

Firemen rescued a number of trapped persons with ladders. Many of the occupants of the building said they were first awakened by screams and the wail of countless sirens, to find their rooms filled with smoke and flames.

HOOVER'S UNCLE DEAD

NORTHBRIDGE, Cal, March 15 (AP)—Pennington Minthorn, 83, uncle of Herbert Hoover, died Wednesday night. Born in Canada, he came to the United States when a boy. His sister, Heldah Minthorn, was Herbert Hoover's mother.

Sporting Licenses Up Half Million

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The biological survey said today that the number of hunters, trappers and fishermen was increasing in this country at the rate of about one-half million a year.

Wild game licenses increased from 5,988,064 in 1935 to 7,524,700 in 1938. License fees in 1938 totaled $12,627,045.

Carroll Enters Race For Suffolk Sheriff

Former State Senator Edward C. Carroll of South Boston, insurance broker, World War veteran and Democratic floor leader in the Senate for two years, today formally announced his candidacy for sheriff of Suffolk County.

The only senator to serve three consecutive terms from the 4th Suffolk district, Carroll was born in South Boston on Dec. 15, 1893, and has been a resident of that district all his life.

He lives in L st and has offices at 89 Broad st., downtown, and at 599 Broadway, South Boston.

He was graduated from grammar and high schools of South Boston, from Staley College, where he received the degrees of bachelor and master of oratory, and from Suffolk Law School with doctor of laws.

During the World War he served as chief petty officer in the Navy from May 29, 1917, to Dec. 22, 1918, and he is a member of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Disable War Veterans and the Kearsarge Naval Veterans.

Other organizations of which he is a member include the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Elks, St. Margaret's Ushers Club, Historical Society and the Polish-American Club, an honorary member.

War Vets Sue To Stop Wages

Injunction against the national commander and national officers of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War was sought today in Middlesex Superior Court on allegations that they have violated the national by-laws through illegally appointed employes and fixed salaries.

The bill in equity was filed by State Comdr. A. Richard Zurfluh of Lowell and two national officers, Maurice S. Stevenson of Boston, national executive committeeman for New England, and Edward J. Walsh of Boston, national junior first vice-commander.

Judge Francis J. Good set March 22 as the date for a hearing on the requests for an injunction to prevent payment of salaries to illegally appointed employes and to have the court order the calling of a special meeting of the national executive committee.

HATCH ACT WINS NEW TEST VOTE

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Supporters of legislation to broaden the Hatch anti-politics act won a major test today when the Senate approves, 47 to 30, a key section forbidding political activity by state workers paid partly from federal funds.

Previous efforts to modify the provision to permit "voluntary" political activity had failed. Today's was the first direct Senate vote on the restriction itself.

Republicans, remaining consistent in their stand for the broadening legislation, voted solidly to apply the restriction to state-federal employes.

Earlier, Senator Hatch (D.) of New Mexico, author of the legislation, had accepted an amendment by Senator Brown (D.) of Michigan to make it clear that the bill would not affect state employes paid solely with state funds.

Senator Thomas (D.) of Oklahoma attacked the constitutionality of the bill, saying it contained an unauthorized delegation of power to the Civil Service Commission. The legislation provides that the commission shall makes rules defining "pernicious political activity."

The vote on the key section did not mean in itself that the legislation actually had ben approved, although it indicated eventual approval.

Due to the parliamentary procedure under which the bill was being considered, several sections were subject to separate consideration before the final vote.

The lovely bedroom group illustrated has created more comment than any set displayed on our floors. The set itself is styled in the stunning "Broadway" manner and consists of a large dresser, full size bed and tall, graceful chest of drawers. Notice the three section wing type mirrors on dresser and vanity, the glowing richness of the costly imported woods, the unusual drawer pulls—the etched design on the fine plate glass mirrors.

And it's made just as finely as it looks, with dustproof construction, oak drawer interiors and mahogany drawer bottoms.

INCLUDED with the set are a Simmons Coil Spring, Comfortable Mattress, 2 Feather Pillows, Bed Lamp and an Attractive Chintz Covered Boudoir Chair.

Vanity—Vanity Bench and 2 Vanity Lamps $4.95 additional.

5 Pc. Chrome and Bakelite DINETTE INCLUDED

Dinette table with bakelite top, chromium plated legs and a useful silver drawer. Also 4 chromium plated leatherette chairs. The Young America Touch for the kitchen.

Kane to Oust 5 Firemen

Rekindling his controversy with 14 call firemen, Mayor William E. Kane today announced he would "smoke out" five of them through a city ordinance.

The men were fired once before, but reinstated by court order.

Mayor Kane announced he would oust five firemen again and within 24 hours notify them the reason was the ordinance:

"Call fireman shall dwell and have his place of business or employment within the limits of the city of Woburn. And upon failure so to do shall cease to be a member of the department."

TRAP FOUR AS HOLDUP SUSPECTS

Credit for one of the smartest captures in recent years was today given to Patrolmen Arthur Sawyer and Joseph L. Crowley, both of Milk st. station, whose suspicions corraled four men believed to have been responsible for many holdups.

Although it was only on a "hunch" that the officers acted, it resulted in nipping, through the admissions of the four, a holdup at the Walter Gordon Poultry Co. in Mystic ave., Somerville, for where the quartet was headed.

ADMIT HOLDUP PLAN

Also, the officers discovered, the men had just stolen the car they were in and had in their possession a loaded .38-caliber revolver.

Officers Sawyer and Crowley were in a cruiser car when they saw a car about to leave the Congress st. parking lot, downtown.

It was an unusual hour for that district and while Sawyer went to the back of the car on foot Crowley headed off the machine with the police car.

At gunpoint the four men in the machine, which they had just stolen from the parking lot, were halted.

Taken to the station, they finally admitted they had planned to hold up the poultry plant in Somerville where they said records they said that there was "$5000 or $6000 in easy money."

POLICE QUIZ THEM

They repented that admission today in the lineup at police headquarters, and police later will question them and have them viewed by victims in connection with several holdups.

Warrant for Pilot In Mid-Air 'Suicide'

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 15 (AP)—The death of a man tentatively identified as Emanuel Eisenberg, 35, of New York, killed when a small training plane fell into New York bay following a mid-air struggle between passenger and pilot, was recorded by police today as "simply a case of suicide."

Police, however, placed a guard around the room of Pilot Joseph Rosemarin, 38, of Brooklyn, at the Medical Center, where he was under treatment for shock and submersion, after a "fugitive from justice" warrant was lodged against him by Staten Island, N. Y. authorities. Bail of $5000 was set on the complaint.

Police Inspector Henry Gauthier said the warrant contained a charge of felonious assault filed against the aviator by Joseph McKenny, assistant district attorney of Staten Island.

Gauthier said Rosemarin was accused of hitting the passenger with a pair of pliers during the wild flight over three of New York City's burroughs.

Jersey City police said they believed the charge was "purely a technical one," usually filed against operators of vehicles in cases of accidental deaths.

PILOT TELLS STORY

The pilot, an instructor for the Standard Flying School at Floyd Bennett Airport in Brooklyn, said the man came to the field yesterday morning and asked for a flying lesson.

Eisenberg, a New York press agent and a theatrical writer, had resigned as press agent for the group theater in New York last year and gone to Mexico to write a book.

From his hospital bed Rosemarin told a graphic story of the terrifying trip. He said that his passenger became terror-stricken while flying over Brooklyn and "leaned over and hit me over the head with pliers."

SAVED BY TUG

"I struck back and knocked him unconscious," the pilot said. "I was unable to control the plane and had to land."

Police Lieutenant William Curtin said Rosemarin told him that the passenger tried to jump out of the plane while it spun earthward.

After the plane hit the water, Rosemarin said he climbed out of the cabin and straddled the fuselage. He was rescued a few minutes later by the tug Osprey, whose crew has been watching the fast falling ship.

Police are still grappling for Eisenberg's body.

Allied Buying Fails To Halt U. S. Arming

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, March 15 (INS)—High ranknig officials of the War Department have denied to a House appropriations subcommittee in secret session that the American rearmament program is being wrecked by heavy Allied purchases, members said today.

One of the officials, it was said, is Maj.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, who also denied that Allied airplane purchases have boosted cost of planes or that army secrets have been disclosed to the Allies.

"I can say definitely that purchases by foreign nations have not retarded the War Department program and that deliveries are up to date," said Rep. J. Buell Snyder (D.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the subcommittee.

PROBE PLANE ORDER

Rep. Powers of New Jersey, ranking Republican on the subcommittee, who first launched an injury into the effect of foreign sales on the rearament program, agreed. He added, however, that large-scale deliveries of airplanes to the U. S. Army have not been started.

"It is too early to say whether or not the program will be delayed in the future," said Powers.

As plans went forward for investigation of the effect of a proposed $1,000,000,000 airplane order by Great Britain and France, two other developments were reported. They were:

1—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, head of a special committee to coordinate sales to warring nations, failed to call in Arnold until after the House Appropriations Subcommittee began inquiring into the situation.

REFUTES PROFITEERING

2—Secretary of War Woodring objected to the Morgenthau board, holding that the joint Army and Navy ordnance board should supervise sales of war materials insofar they affect the national defense.

Snyder, denying that airplane makers are profiteering, said that an estimated 10 per cent increase in cost of airplanes is due to improvements. He indicated that decision of the Army to install self-sealing gas tanks and armor on big bombers—the result of lessons learned from the present war—accounts for part of the increased cost.

James R. Young Trial Resumed

TOKYO, March 15 (INS)—Trial of James R. Young, chief of the International News Service Tokyo bureau, on charges of violating the Japanese military code in a series of dispatches following a tour of China, was resumed today. The trial began in secret earlier in the week, but after a single session was recessed until today.

The only witness called was M. Iwasaki, president of the Tokyo Cornell Club.

The procurator, whose functions correspond to those of the district attorney in the United States, then stated his case, after which Young's three attorneys pleaded his side for three hours.

Court then was adjourned until 10 p. m. It was anticipated that a final decision might be expected at that time.

Spending Plans Wait Income Tax Returns

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Political leaders are looking to the federal income tax returns, due by midnight tonight, to influence important decisions about farm and defense spending, new taxation and changing the federal debt limit.

While the Administration set up no goal for this month's tax collections, the margin by which the receipts exceed the $505,000,000 collected last March is expected to be cited in coming congressional debates. Unofficial guesses for the March total average about $650,000,000.

For instance, officials said, if the tax yield is plentiful, farm leaders can be expected to argue that the extra collections represent an unexpected Treasury windfall which could be used for larger farm appropriations without impairing the budgetary outlook.

DELAYS ARMAMENT

Similarly, proponents of greater defense spending could cite the availability of extra funds for their products.

At the same time, opponents of the $460,000,000 in new defense taxes proposed by President Roosevelt in January will find support if the collections are large. Congress has been cold to the tax proposal, but if March total should prove disappointing, the lawmakers might be more receptive.

Overhanging all congressional debates on spending and economy in recent weeks has been President Roosevelt's prediction that, unless appropriations were held to his January estimates and the new taxes were voted, the Treasury would reach its $45,000,000,000 debt limitation during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Thus, if revenues should be larger than he expected, there might be room either for more spending or avoiding new taxes, or both.

MAY TAX INTEREST

The receipts also may influence the past reluctance of Congress to follow the Administration's request to tax the interest from future issues of state and local government bonds.

Returns must be filed in person or mailed before midnight to the nearest of the 60 internal revenue offices throughout the country. At least a week is expected to elapse, however, before authoritative estimates of the yield will be possible.

Relatively few citizens paid their taxes beforehand. And in the first 12 days of the month income tax collections recorded at the Treasury amounted to only $81,475,743. This was 50 per cent above the similar period last year, but might not be any indication of the final increase.

From July 1, 1939, through March 12, 1940, the Treasury's total receipts were $3,725,691,256, compared with $3,815,171,369 in the similar portion of the previous fiscal year. The total for this fiscal year, however, is expected to be well ahead.

Expenditures through March 12 totaled $6,446,636,034, creating a deficit of $2,720,944,777 after nearly three-quarters of the fiscal year. On the same date last year the deficit was $2,406,197,675.

Record Crowds File U. S. Tax Returns Here

Last-minute crowds turned out in record-breaking proportions at the Federal Building today to file their federal income tax returns.

Today was the final day. All income tax returns must be filed by 4:30 p. m., when the revenue offices close, or be mailed not later than midnight tonight.

More than $2,000,000 over what was paid in last year is expected to have been turned over to the government by taxpayers at the close of business. Fifty clerks and deputies answered questions for the hundreds who thronged the corridors and filled every available inch at the counter.

Most unusual taxpayer reported was a woman who tried in vain to pay a tax on an income she did not possess.

She wanted to pay a tax on $1500 in savings she had withdrawn from the bank during the past year. Told she owed no tax, she departed, crestfallen.

Beauchamp Is Maine Congress Candidate

LEWISOHN 'WIFE' TRIED ON UNDIES AS MEN GAPED

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Thelma Bowman Spear, unwed mother of the six-year-old son of Ludwig Lewisohn, the author, was declared by a state supreme court witness to have been so eccentric as to try on underwear in a Vermont store before a pop-eyed group of men and women. Testifying in the writer's suit for complete custody of the boy, Saul Spiro, of Pittsburgh, Pa., said the underwear incident occurred in the store of his father-in-law, Morris Mazel, in Burlington.

Spiro, who identified himself as supervisor of all Jewish religious schools in southwestern Pennsylvania, declared that during the liaison of Miss Spear and Lewisohn he had urged them to marry but that the woman, a concert singer, had thus disposed of that suggestion:

WANTED MONEY ONLY

"I want to be a free agent and marry any millionaire who comes along the way."

Also, the witness said, Miss Spear had once told him:

"I'm willing to become a courtesan if I can get the money for it."

While Miss Spear sat frequently tossing her blond head, Spiro made another assertions:

That when the body of a kidnaped New Rochelle, N. Y., boy was found about two years ago, Miss Spear had said:

"I wish this happened to my brat—then I would be free";

PLENTY OF LIQUOR

That while she was living in Burlington and Lewisohn was away on his lecture tours she would sometimes buy five or six bottles of liquor at a time, and would disappear and have pre-dated letters mailed to the author "to give the impression she was taking care of the baby";

That she would give the boy tastes of these beverages;

That she used such language as could not be repeated "in front of the judge," and that the child would inquire: "Mama says so; why shouldn't I?"

THELMA SPEAR, ATTORNEY AND SON

Miss Spear's Bigamy Plea Is Ruled Out

BALTIMORE, March 15 (AP)—State's Atty. J. Bernard Wells said today bigamy charges could not be pressed in this jurisdiction against Ludwig Lewisohn by Miss Thelma Spear, who dramatically interrupted the Jewish author's marriage to Edna Manley here Feb. 6.

Just as the 58-year-old Lewisohn and the 31-year-old Miss Manley, former Rochester, N. Y., news paperwoman, were preparing to take the wedding vows, Miss Spear, accompanied by her six-year-old son, Jimmy, rushed into Har Sinai Temple.

She opposed the wedding, asserting that she was Lewishohn's common-law wife and the mother of his son. She failed to block the wedding but later asked Wells to determine whether there was any ground for pressing bigamy charges against the novelist.

Wells in a statement concluded that Miss Spear "was not the wife of Ludwig Lewisohn at the time of his marriage" to Miss Manley.

"Therefore," he added, "no prosecution for bigamy could be maintained in this jurisdiction."

Joseph Gelinas Rites Tomorrow

Joseph R. Gelinas, 68, for 30 years a compositor on the Boston Evening American and for many years a resident of Somerville, died on Wednesday at his home, 53 Paulina st., West Somerville, following a four months' sickness.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from his home, with services in Notre Dame de Pitie Church, North Cambridge, where a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Cambridge Cemetery.

He was a member of Notre Dame de Pitie Court, M. C. O. F.; the International Typographical Union, Local 13, and the Holy Name Society of Notre Dame de Pitie Church.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Albertine (Asselin) Gelinas, four daughters, Miss Annette Gelinas, at home; Mrs. A. L. Gaudet, Mrs. G. E. Withington and Mrs. J. E. Simard, all of Somerville; three sons, Andrew L. Gelinas of Cambridge; George W. and Alexander D. Gelinas, both of Somerville, and several grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. Marie Joyal of Boston.

STORM FLOODS MANY HIGHWAYS

against high winds approaching gale force.

Flooding of the Veterans of Foreign Wars parkway on the Dedham-Boston highway caused a traffic tieup near the New Haven railroad bridge on Route 1A.

Extra police were sent to the scene from the West Roxbury station and from Dedham. Outgoing traffic was detoured to let Boston-bound cars splash through.

Centered over Connecticut, today's storm was expected to move out to sea, with winds shifting to the west in New England. The barometer was rising here.

BEACH HOMES FLOODED

Huge breakers smashed the coast and threatened to inundate streets and houses in Revere, Winthrop, Quincy and other shore towns.

Rain, driven by the high wind, blurred the vision of autoists. Pedestrians, likewise blinded by the rain, fought gusts of wind in Boston streets.

Extra police were called to unsnarl traffic at many points where streets were flooded.

Schools were ordered closed all day in Chelsea, Lynn, Bedford, Lexington, Gloucester, Revere, Saugus, Watertown, Winthrop, Belmont, Walpole and Franklin.

Elementary schools were closed for the day in Brookline, Needham, Bridgewater, Nahant, Foxboro, Swampscott, Abington, Kingston, Concord, Everett and Randolph. No morning sessions were held in Arlington, Melrose, Braintree, Wakefield, Malden, Reading, Stoneham, Stoughton, Mansfield and Brockton.

Rain, Snow Swells Pennsylvania Rivers

PHILADELPHIA, March 15 (AP) — Rising as much as a foot an hour, rivers in eastern Pennsylvania neared flood stage today, while western counties shivered under a wintry snow blanket and faced a forecast of continued cold.

Much of the state had a two-inch snowfall and icy highways, but along the watercourses of the Lehigh and Schuylkill rivers there was more rain than snow, and swollen streams inundated lowlands and blocked roads.

At Philadelphia the waters of the Schuylkill went up six feet from 11 p. m. yesterday to 5 p. m. today before the rise slowed.

Worst Storm of Year Disrupts Montreal

MONTREAL, March 15 (AP) — The worst snowstorm of the season and one of the most severe in years today disrupted transportation and communication facilities in Quebec province.

Telegraph and telephone companies appeared to be the most severely hit. A blanket of more than nine inches of snow fell over a wide fic and delayed plane, train and area of the province, crippled traffic schedules.

U. S.-Red Break Urged in Senate

WASHINGTON, March 15 (INS) —A resolution calling on President Roosevelt to break off diplomatic relations between the United States and Russia was formally introduced in the Senate today by Senator Clark (D.) of Idaho.

The measure was immediately referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sharp condemnation of Russia's "unwarranted aggression" and a declaration that Russia failed to observe the 1933 Litvinoff agreement under which the United States recognized the Soviet Union was included in a series of "whereas" provisions at the outset of the resolution.

Immediately after Clark's action, Sen. Brown (D.) of Michigan backed him up by introducing a bill which would remove all restrictions from any loans made by the United States to Finland.

Brown pointed out that the Senate recently approved a $20,000,000 loan to Finland by increasing funds of the Export-Import Bank. Under the provisions of the loan, however, the money must be used to buy non-military supplies. This restriction would be removed under Brown's bill.

13,000 to Be Cut Off WPA April 1

Boston will lose 2609 WPA jobs and some 13,000 persons will be cut off project payrolls throughout the state on April 1 when a nationwide reduction in WPA expenses is effected, local authorities learned from Washington today.

F. D. Scores Tobey On 'Census Revolt'

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 15—President Roosevelt today took direct issue with Republican Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire over the nature of the 1940 census questionnaire forms.

Although confined to his room with a slight case of the grip, the President, through Secretary Stephen T. Early, sharply criticized Tobey for "openly advising the public to violate the law" by refusing to answer census questions pertaining to income.

(Secretary of Commerce Hopkins ruled yesterday that questions on personal income may be answered on an official blank for which no signature is necessary. The blank then is to be placed in a franked envelope, sealed by the person questioned and handed to the census enumerator to be mailed to Washington direct.)

Early explained that the White House physician forced Mr. Roosevelt to cancel all engagements today when he was found to be running a degree of fever, but announced that had the President held his press conference he would have defended the merit of the disputed census questions.

Taking cognizance of the fight Tobey is leading in the Senate to force abandonment of questions relating to income, Early reported the President would have said this information was requested and endorsed by responsible business organizations and were needed by business to gauge mass buying power.

It is the President's position, Early said, that a nation-wide response to the income questions will develop the same information regarding the lower income groups that is now available for the high brackets in the Treasury Department.

"The President would have called attention to the fact that for the first time a United States senator is openly advising the people to violate the law," Early said, "and is holding himself out as the one person who will not answer the census questions when he knows full well they are unnecessary in his case."

F. D. Tops Tennessee Straw Vote by 5-1

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 15 (INS)—Virtually complete returns of a "straw vote" cast in conjunction with the biennial county election today revealed that Hamilton (Chattanooga) County Democrats overwhelmingly favor a third term for President Roosevelt. The Chief Executive had won approval for a term by at least a 5 to 1—and possibly a 6 to 1—majority.

WILLIAMSTOWN, March 15—Scorning modern devices, Thomas F. Whitbread of West Cummington licked 5000 of the new Mark Hopkins stamps at the post office today, then treated his mouth with a shot of old-fashioned cider and the explanation, "a sure fire remedy."

3 HUNTED IN KILLING, GIRL ATTACK

BALTIMORE, Md. March 15 (INS)—Police today searched for three bandits who shot and killed John K. Waterbury, 25-year-old Baltimore engineer, and slugged his woman companion, Miss Phyllis Taylor, 24, in a holdup on a lonely road near here.

Waterbury, a Cornell University graduate, had been shot through the heart. Miss Taylor was treated for head bruises. The bandits first robbed the couple of a small amount of money and jewelry, a

TECH HOST TO FOREIGN STUDENTS

Foreign students from more than 40 nations were guests at a dinner given by President and Mrs. Karl T. Compton of M. I. T. A total of 231 foreign students are registered at M. I. T. this year, with Canada, China, Brazil and Cuba heavily represented.

Assisting Dr. and Mrs. Compton were faculty members and their wives from each department, members of a special committee that helps foreign students at Technology.

The Institute has registered 47 [redacted] and women from Canada. Twenty-nine live here at or near the head of the school's list of foreign students.

Brazil and Cuba tie for third place with 11 men each. Turkey is fourth with nine and Mexico fifth with eight. Holland, Norway and Siam each send seven; six each come from Colombia and France; five each from Argentina and Switzerland, and four each from Persia, England, Germany, India and Italy.

Technology has three students from British West Indies; two each from Bermuda, Honduras, Russia and Venezuela and one each from Australia, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Haiti, Japan, New Zealand, Peru, Poland, Rumania, Scotland, Spain, Straits Settlements, Sweden, Syria and the Union of South Africa.

Startled Mexicans See First Snowfall

MEXICO CITY, March 15 (INS)—Thousands of Mexicans saw snow for the first time in their lives when a light snowfall began, but was quickly melted, as brief rain squalls followed.

In the memory of the oldest inhabitants, this is the first snowfall in the Valley of Mexico. Snow-capped mountains are daily visible from Mexico City, but actual contact with snow is almost an unheard of experience.

She Gets Dr. Cabot Bequest

Mrs. Nina Halfdan Lee of Worthington rd., Brookline, today became mistress of a fortune—$100,000 willed outright to her by the late Dr. Richard C. Cabot of Cambridge.

Under the terms of an inventory filed in Middlesex Probate Court, Mrs. Lee is the largest single beneficiary of the $837,247 estate. The will was allowed after two brothers withdrew "mere technical objections."

Dr. Cabot was an author, professor and physician. In the opening paragraph of his last will and testament he declares that he has had a life of happiness, "due in no way to any merit of mine but which has been permitted me in spite of my grievous sins and shortcomings."

Much of the estate will go to charity, at the discretion of the trustees. A trust fund of $100,000 was set aside for relatives, friends and servants.

EXAM FOR CITY POST

A Civil Service examination will be held March 28 to fill a newly created $3000-a-year position of director of all recreation in the Boston park department.

30 11 WPA Indictments Called 'Just Starter'

Indictments returned by a Federal grand jury against 11 former project workers is but the first step in the investigation of alleged WPA irregularities in Greater Boston, United States Attorney Edmund J. Brandon disclosed today.

A new grand jury will meet at the federal building Tuesday, and additional indictments will be sought similar to those brought against the eleven former timekeepers, laborers and supervisors.

Those already indicted will be arraigned Tuesday. They are:

THOSE NAMED

Kenneth S. Hinsman, 33, married, River st., Cambridge; Joseph Logan, 21, single, Erie st., Cambridge, and Albert Dutra, 20, former boxer, Norfolk st., Cambridge.

They are charged jointly with conspiracy. Hinsman alone is also charged in five counts with receiving $104.50 in WPA money as a laborer, although he allegedly performed no service and conducted an oil range burner business.

Logan, in two counts, and Dutra, in three, are charged with keeping Hinsman on their payrolls and receiving money for this—Logan $20 and Dutra $10.

OTHERS ACCUSED

Nunzio Camiolo, 22, single, Cottage st., East Boston, charged in seven counts with causing a false payroll to be used, and with receiving $56.15 for marking up, as timekeeper, a duplicate assignment for the same man.

Others accused are:

Alfred T. Marler, 35, single, Haverford st., Jamaica Plain, charged with keeping Camiolo on a payroll when he did not work.

Eugene L. Belzarini, Meacham rd., Somerville, charged in two counts with keeping Warren H. Talbot on a payroll for $35.20 when he did not work, and receiving $15 from Talbot.

Warren H. Talbot, Summer st. Somerville, charged in two counts with having Belzarini keep his name on the payroll and paying Belzarini, as timekeeper, $15.

Albert H. Belisle, Union st., Millis, former supervisor in charge of federal commodities distribution center at Milford, charged in two counts with having his name placed on a payroll for $78.84 although he allegedly did no work and at the time was working for a private firm in Worcester.

Ralph D. Bowman, Floral st., Newton, charged in eight counts with receiving eight pay checks totaling $105.38, on three projects, for which he did no work and while he allegedly was employed in a Newton chain store.

CHARGE NO WORK DONE

Bernard Donegan, Concord st., Somerville, charged in 13 counts with causing his name to be placed on a payroll for $158.01, although he performed no work and allegedly was driving a truck in Boston for an express company.

Arthur J. Govostes, South st., Woburn, charged in three counts with keeping two laborers on payrolls, although they did no work and although one was on a honeymoon, and with receiving a total of $31.68 for his services.

MORE TROOPS BALK DAM PROJECT

DISNEY, Okla., March 15 (AP)—Oklahoma's vigorous "state's rights" executive bolstered his military rule over Grand River dam today with a court order to prevent completion of the $20,000,000 power project until Uncle Sam kicks in with another $880,275.

The flame-haired governor, Leon C. Phillips, obtained a temporary order restraining further construction of an unfinished arch. He had put the Northeastern Oklahoma project under martial law Wednesday.

The dam authority, challenging Phillips' right to halt the work, ordered Massman Construction Co. of Kansas City, general contractor, to proceed "as may seem necessary to insure the uninterrupted continuance of construction work."

The governor's petition for an injunction set at $889,275 the damages he declared the federal government must pledge, contingent on the state's winning a judgment, for roads and bridges which will be inundated when the dam is closed.

The government originally loaned the state $11,000,000 and made an outright grant of $900,000 more for the project.

Several National Guard officers were posted at the dam and 30-odd officers and men remained in readiness at Wagoner, the concentration point.

There was no immediate indication whether Governor Phillips would demobilize the troops now that he had a new weapon, the court order.

District Judge W. M. Thomas at Miami ordered a hearing on the injunction Wednesday.

The dam authority instructed R. L. Davidson, chief counsel to "resist the action with every means."

REMINGTON DUAL SHAVER

...IN THE MOST AMAZING SERIES OF TESTS EVER RUN BY THE U. S. TESTING CO., INC.

TWO HEADS ARE better than one and twice as fast! That's what U. S. Testing Co., Inc., nationally famous testing laboratory found. Not only faster... but close as the closest blade shaves. These certified facts, resulting from a national test by all kinds of men with all kinds of beards ..make the Remington Dual Shaver the one best buy of the decade.

GOING-TO-BUSINESS SHAVES IN 31.8 SECONDS

They showed up unshaven . . . and then shaved with a stop-watch timing them. And some men who took 20 to 32 minutes with blades and lather shaved in 1 minute flat with the Dual. One man did it in 30 seconds. You, too, can get presentable shaves in this time with a very minimum of "learning how."

"A Shaver That Really Shaves"

CLOSE AS A BLADE IN ½ THE TIME

The average beard length of the men was 202.12 microns (1 micron equals 1-25,400 of an inch) after shaving by their regular method. After shaving with the Remington Dual the average beard length was 172.66 microns. And the time on the average dropped from 6 minutes 44 seconds to 2 minutes 41 seconds.

10,000,000 men have waited for the revolutionary, new Remington Dual Shaver. Try this new Remington in your own home for 14 days. Regardless of your type of beard or usual method of shaving, if you are not completely satisfied with the Remington return it to us with no obligation whatsoever on your part.

IRISH UNITY

Dear Sir—As a firm believer in democracy I would like to sympathize with Great Britain but how any person can believe she is fighting for the rights of small nations, for their freedom and sovereignty, at the same time denying Ireland her freedom and unity, is more than I can imagine. Britain cries for Finland, Austria, etc., and at the same time prods Eire in the back with a knife. Let us hope the next St. Patrick's Day will bring into the world a United Independent Irish Republic.

Meet to Avoid Fisherman Strike

Representatives of trawler owners and the fishermen's union met at Fish Pier today in an attempt to avert a threatened dispute over wages and hours which may involve 700 men and 55 boats.

The present union contract was about to expire. Fo: more than a month, negotiations have been pressed for a new agreement. The tieup which both sides fear would be so great that the entire fishing industry in Boston would be affected, spokesmen admit.

There are fashions in foods as well as in clothes and home economics experts were given a foretaste of them at the John P. Squire Easter Preview Luncheon.

J. G. Keanedy, general manager, J. J. Murray, city sales manager, and H. M. Lester, sales manager, all of John P. Squire Co. were hosts to Miss Margaret Fosset, and Miss Emma Tighe home economics experts of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. and the Boston Edison Co. respectively.

Main dish of the luncheon was John P. Squire's Arlington ham, one of the new spring food fashions. A movie about Squire products called "Three Magic Words," and discussion of the use of meats in the Easter feasts followed the luacheon.

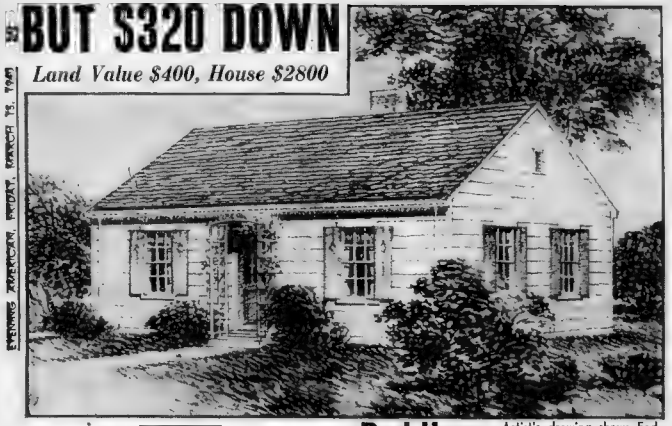
BUT $320 DOWN

Land Value $400, House $2800



Listen! A Home of Your Own With $320 as Down Payment

A home of your own for $320 down payment and less than $1 a day over a 20-year period!

That's just one of the offers the Federal Housing Administration is making, as it prepares to break ground this coming week on an all-Home Boston project.

The Boston Evening American is able to show you plans today for a model FHA dwelling with living room, dinette, kitchen, two bedrooms and cellar all for $2800.

With price of land estimated at $400 this would bring the cost of house and lot together to a total of $3200.

You would pay ten per cent or $320, of this down in cash and would be able to budget the rest over 20 years at a monthly cost of approximately $19 exclusive of fire insurance and local taxes.

As the floor plan reprinted on this page indicates the house is approximately 26 feet by 22 feet, outside dimensions. There are two bedrooms, one 11 feet two inches by ten feet two inches and 11 feet by 13 feet respectively. The living room is 13 feet six inches by 14 feet, with a dining nook off its rear. There's a seven-foot two-inch by 10-foot kitchenette and a compact modern bathroom.

There's a small cellar, to accommodate the heating unit, which uses a chimney in the center of the house.

The monthly payments will amount to slightly more than $18 interest and amortization of principal, plus $1 and some cents mortgage insurance.

Fire insurance and local taxes will amount to a maximum of $10 a month more in most neighborhoods, bringing total monthly payments to approximately $30-$31 a month.

Full details of this and other low-cost homes now to be available for Boston buyers, can be obtained at FHA headquarters in the Park Square Building.

Real Home—Artist's drawing shows Federal Housing Administration home . . . and below is the floor plan. Down payment of $320 and $19 a month, plus taxes and insurance, would pay for it in 20 years.

SPRING just around the corner, Easter hardly more than a week away, Boston and New England are dressing up.

It has been a long, hard, cold Winter with too much snow, too much wind and too much of everything that discourages fashion consciousness.

But all that is behind us now. The sun is rising higher and higher above the horizon, and, in spirit, men and women are moving with it.

HER 1940 EASTER HAT
Miss Marjorie Edgerly Finds It in Boston Store

No longer is a coat "right" because it happens to be warm or a shoe "proper" because it will keep out water.

The magic touch of Easter—the earliest Easter in twenty-six years—is on everyone and everything.

That is why today, tomorrow and all next week promise to be the busiest buying period in years in Boston.

Stylists decree bright colors, polka-dots, gay hats and chic, feminine clothes for women. Regimentation or the mere suggestion of it is in discard. Too much of the world is surfeited with militarism. Epaulets, knapsack pockets, brass buttons and fatigue caps are for soldiers in battle regalia, not for women in peaceful pursuits.

Men, too, are responding to the challenge of Spring, 1940. For them, fashion creators offer a rainbow assortment of colors, ranging all the way from youthful blues to masculine maroons. Without apology a gentleman may be a veritable peacock.

With the Easter metamorphosis so wise and so general, it is not surprising that one should see the biggest crowds since Christmas on Boston streets.

This is the economic and geographic center of New England. Stores here are bigger, more attractive and very easily reached. The shopper gets what he wants. Accepting a substitute article is seldom necessary.

And, best of all, prices in this Fashion Capital of America are attractive to everybody. Our stores strive to satisfy all tastes, all purses, and they usually SUCCEED.

"YOU CAN'T EXPECT a single weather forecaster sitting in Washington, no matter how good he may be, to work out in half an hour a forecast covering from North Carolina to Maine and as far west in some cases as the Mississippi river, and not make plenty of errors."

Thus speaks Professor Charles F. Brooks, director of Harvard's Blue Hill meteorological observatory.

Of course Professor Brooks is right. What New England needs and ought to have is a weather forecasting station ALL ITS OWN.

Staffed with full-time observers who know this section's climate and its tendency to quick changes, the proposed meteorological bureau could save millions of dollars annually, particularly if it absorbed rather than overlapped the present Boston unit and the East Boston airport facilities.

PROPER WARNING
Would Prevent This

When the devastating hurricane swept New England two years ago, it found this region unprepared.

When the blizzard arrived last month, it came almost similarly unannounced.

And when another disturbance of great intensity heads this way, it will also very likely take us by surprise.

Our important recreational industry, our agricultural areas and our vital industries should be as well informed concerning the impending weather as the knowledge and facilities of a SEPARATE New England weather forecasting station would permit.

The present long-range, hit-or-miss system is too risky and much too costly in terms of property damage and loss of life.

Choosing Sides

THE BAT is tossed; they're choosing sides—two rival captains, they . . . The other fellows crowd around to make sure of fair play . . . It makes a world of difference on whom first choice will fall . . . for future leaders may emerge from sandlot games of ball . . . Shorty and Skinny, Fatty, too, tomorrow they may be . . . Doctor or lawyer, journalist, captain of industry . . . Good sportsmanship must rule today, however keen the strife . . . For every sandlot ball game is a miniature game of life.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

KOKOMO, Ind., March 15—We reached Lansing, Mich., Monday afternoon in time for me to have a chat with the Democratic vice-chairman of the State Central Committee, Mrs. Belen, and the head of the Eleanor Roosevelt League, Mrs. De Vitis. Then we had an hour drive around the campus of Michigan State College.

These wonderful state universities are a constant surprise and a matter of great pride to me. This college has the distinction of being the one where agriculture was first taught for college credits. Many of the people who have made names for themselves in other parts of the country received their education here. Mr. Liberty Hyde Bailey of Cornell fame and Mr. Ulysses Prentiss Hedrick, of the Geneva Experiment Station in New York State, both came from this university.

MICHIGAN State College has evidently taken every advantage which the Federal Government offered it. The number of buildings which have gone up during the past few years is really extraordinary. They have a perfect little music building, an athletic building which will be the envy of many universities, dormitories and many other buildings.

THE FIRST LADY
Lauds Michigan College

They tell me that a boy or girl can go through the university on $500 a year. They have made good use of NYA grants and the college also gives a great many work opportunities because, like nearly all state universities, a great many young people work their way through and, what is more, live on bread and milk to do it.

I did not have time to visit any WPA or NYA projects, but the results of one of the NYA projects was brought to me at the hotel after my lecture. It was a delicious smoked turkey which the NYA directors from Wisconsin had taken with them. They are training boys in both Wisconsin and Michigan in work which may augment the cash incomes on farms on marginal land.

When we awakened in Chicago Tuesday morning, we discovered that Illinois had a sleet storm during the night. Trees and shrubs and winter grasses in the field are encased in ice. It is very beautiful to look at, but not so pleasant when you have to drive about. We went slowly through the streets of Chicago to our breakfast at the Stevens Hotel.

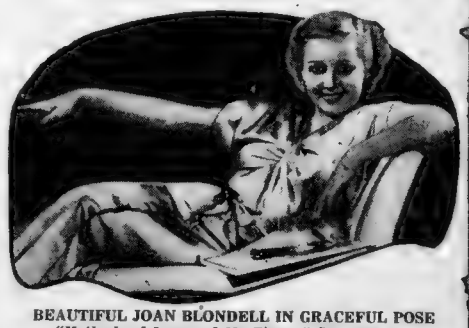
EVERYWHERE I go I am hearing more about the project which the professional and service department of WPA is planning for the week of April 22 to 27. They are hoping for 20 million visitors to their projects during that week.

They will open the week with a 25-cent dinner where they hope sponsors, workers and staff members will sit down together and listen to a national broadcast and prepare for the coming week, in which every community, we hope, will become acquainted with what it is getting through the work done on WPA.

On the Side -:- -:- By E. V. DURLING

IS WOMAN'S place the home? Well, let's postpone the argument on that until the next semester. Anyway home seems to be a good place for a woman, as in an examination of seven hundred and seven neurotic females only two were housewives. One hundred and eighty-five of the aforementioned neurotics were clerical workers; one hundred and thirty-two were school teachers . . . What is now known as the corset was, when patented, described as "a female form compressor and support." There's no doubt that the corset is currently called upon to do considerable form compressing . . . Outstanding California tourist attraction is the almost daily appearance in Beverly Hills of Fannie Brice in green slacks . . . It has been unkindly revealed by a contemporary that Fred Allen is a "gum-parker"; a man who parks his gum under theater seats and restaurant tables. It is unfortunate that one of the penalties of fame is having the intimate details of one's life cruelly exposed to the public gaze.

JOAN BLONDELL told the press: "Motherhood improved my figure." A very commendable statement . . . "And don't forget," writes Pat Boyle, "the mother of Marconi, inventor of the wireless, was Irish and not Italian." . . . "Remember the Fadettes?" asks Vaudeville fan. Yes, sir, it was an all girl orchestra from Boston . . . One thing I have never been attracted by is females who kittenishly curl up on chairs or sofas . . . Mahatma Gandhi is a vegetarian, too . . . "What have foreigners that Americans lack in handling women?" asks a customer. Well, sir, I wouldn't say for sure; but maybe it is a better knowledge of the subject . . . A Vienna dentist is said to put ivory roots on false teeth. Then the gums grow around these roots as with regular teeth. And the patient has practically a regular tooth with no chance of a toothache . . . Elderly woman carrying a fishing pole and a knapsack boarded at 5 a. m. a car bound for the beach. She told the conductor she was going fishing to get food for 18 stray cats she was supporting.



BEAUTIFUL JOAN BLONDELL IN GRACEFUL POSE
"Motherhood Improved My Figure," She Tells Press

AN OFF-FACE HAT makes a woman look younger. So say hat experts. They don't say what kind of a hat makes a man look how. I was once addicted to derby hats. Even when my girl friend said a derby hat made my face "look like the moon coming over the mountain" I wouldn't change. Then one day, her patience evidently exhausted, my feminine companion pulled my derby hat off and stamped on it. Now I wear soft hats. But I still am mistaken for a house detective.

AUTHOR FINDS NEW "INVENTION"

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 15 Marc Connelly, who is vacationing here from Hollywood, listened to a long, pointless story related by Dave Chasen, the restaurateur who once had been Joe Cook's stooge . . . Chasen persisted in telling that story, despite the yawns of his audience . . . When it was finished, Connelly told him: "Dave, Curie hit upon Radium, someone else hit upon Helium—and you've hit upon Tedium" . . . Arthur Kober, whose "Having Wonderful Time" was produced by Connelly, wrote to Marc and told him of the travail through which he's going, before finishing his new play . . . Connelly wrote a letter of wise counsel, in which he assured Arthur that no successful playwright ever completed his job without suffering mental torment and feeling his soul being torn away . . . "But after it's done and is a hit, that all goes away and you're happy again," Connelly concluded. "P. S.: Please make a photostat of this letter and send it to me. I need it—because I'm finishing my new play, and feel exactly the way you do."

BEN LYON and his wife, Bebe Daniels, have been making personal appearances in England for the past few years. Their material is written by Mort Lewis, New York script-writer . . . Last week Lyon wrote to Lewis, asked for more material, and explained that he couldn't pay for it now—because the British Government wasn't permitting any resident to send money out of the country, except where it was needed for the support of a child or parent . . . Lewis cabled his answer: "Dear Pop: Am Broke and Hungry. Please Send Dough—Your Son, Mort."

BELA BLAU, the producer, plans to present Dame May Whitty and Mady Christians in "Viceroy Sarah," which has been adapted for the American stage by Ethel Borden and Dorothy Cass Canfield . . . Blau had some trial performances at his summer theater, after the season was over. Because Margaret Webster, the director, also helped in the script-revision, Blau notified her that in addition to her director's fee, she would receive 10 per cent of his share of the production . . . Miss Webster thanked Blau for his generous offer, but refused it. "I'm receiving an ample fee, for directing," she insisted. "To take anything beyond that would be greediness" . . . Dorothy Parker dined at the home of Sam Goldwyn—who asked her: "Do you really say all those things which the papers report that you say?" . . . Dorothy smiled and answered: "Do YOU?"

EXCLUSIVE: Congressman Joseph E. Casey of Clinton, who has won national stature in the past six months as one of the two "liberal" members of the Dies committee, is a candidate for attorney general of Massachusetts . . . And another Democratic Joseph, the fiery Langone of Boston's North End, hopes to be on the state ticket also—as lieutenant governor nominee.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: There's smoke around the sanctum of the parole board, and if it develops into fire you will be reading any day now of the resignation of one of the board members . . . The gentleman under discussion is not Chairman Ralph W. Robart . . . "Worth A Million's" backer is the very wealthy Armour Archbold, reputedly a relative of the Rockefellers . . . The show will play Toronto and Baltimore after leaving Boston tomorrow night . . . Patsy Flick, Taylor Holmes and Charlie Chase—all of the cast—are aiding in the rewriting job underway.

BOTH FLICK AND CHASE have had experience in scribbling material . . . Flick wrote Al Jolson's radio shows, and Charlie Chase—whose real name is Paul Parrot, by the way—wrote his own material as a Keystoner in early days of the pictures . . . Flick and Chase would not be a bad name for a comedy act, and at the Cocoanut Grove's theatrical night the two visitors scored with a succession of laughs in an ad-lib. routine . . Tallulah Bankhead responded with a sincere little speech (more than Mickey Alpert expected . . .) And the place was jammed.

PRETTY SIGRID LASSEN is improving with each performance at the Mayfair, according to reports . . . In our opinion, Miss Lassen would do even better with material a little less taxing than "My Hero" and other ambitious soprano "standards" . . . Sigrid is being tutored in voice by Mrs. Cobina Wright (Sr.) . . . Once an opera and concert singer, the charming Mrs. Wright communicates what, for want of a better description, we would call an "aria influence" to her young charge . . . Miss Lassen might do better with a couple of popular ballads such as "Do I Love You, Do I?", Cole Porter's tricky but engaging tune . . . Or the ditty which Variety amusingly abbreviates this week into an "18th Cent. Drawing," a title which might confuse the uninitiate into thinking this was something about a bargain sweepstakes or a turkey raffle . . . We of the initiate would recognize immediately that the Variety mugg responsible for the abbreviation was referring to "In an Eighteenth Century Drawing Room."

AS A COMING ETHEL MERMAN Miss Lassen might better be trying her voice at the catchy and simpler ballads . . . She has an audience half-won with her beauty (which includes shapeliness of an unusually high degree), and her demureness and complete lack of affectation . . . I hope when we hear her next season, this pretty daughter of European nobility will have retained her demureness . . . The gals lose a lot of things in developing into "name acts" for the labster palaces where wine and women are offered with the songs.

ONE MANNERISM Miss Lassen will surely lose is the plaintive manner she has of cocking her head to

GRETA GARBO BACK FROM VACATION

By Louella O. Parsons

Greta Garbo

HOLLYWOOD, March 15 As quietly as she left Hollywood, just that quietly Greta Garbo returned two days ago. By her side was her friend, Gaylord Hauser, and I wouldn't have known they were back if I hadn't glimpsed them dining at a small restaurant. Garbo really saw New York for the first time. She not only went to night clubs but she had tea with Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at the famous Vanderbilt mansion on 5th avenue. She went to Florida and was much entertained there by socialites, flew to Nassau and now she's back ready to talk pictures at M-G-M.

So far no story has been selected other than "Madame Curie," which is still in the discussing stage. Garbo is not married—that, I get right from headquarters, but neither she nor her diet specialist are denying prospects of a coming marriage and I want to say now that I said so first. In fact I was the first one to announce that she and Hauser were thataway.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Charles Butterworth's big moment is Mrs. Lois Earle, Pasadena socialite, and no one will be surprised if they head toward the altar; Randy Scott and Natalie Draper are still flourishing romantically, in spite of rumors to the contrary; Alice Faye was at Ciro's again with Sandy Cummings, who seems to be her favorite escort; here's a new and interesting twosome—Steffi Duna and Dennis O'Keefe.

SONJA HENIE has rented a house in Honolulu. She likes the tropical clime that well; Ruth Foran, the former Mrs. Dick, and Sy Bartlett a Brown Derby twosome; the Jack Warners have taken the Tom Douglas house in Palm Springs, where they are getting lots of rest; Alex D'Arcy, who carried the torch for Arleen Whelan, is consoling himself with Joan Weber, a non-professional from Long Beach. They have been dining at Sardi's two nights in succession; Claire Windsor received more applause than any of the current stars at the opening of the Florentine Gardens. And many top names were there, too.

TYRONE POWER has dropped his crutch in favor of a cane; Barbara Stanwyck is wearing another new pin—this time it's a wagon made of diamonds; think of it—Freddy Bartholomew will be 16 years old March 28. Time certainly flies; Georgiana Young, Loretta's young sister, with Billy Halop at Ruby Foos; Myrna Loy is helping Arthur Hornblow celebrate his birthday tonight with a dinner party; Reginald Gardiner's interest in Lucile Fairbanks is attracting attention; the Irving Starrs are cradle shopping. He's at Columbia; Hedy Lamarr and Claudette Colbert met for the first time in the wardrobe department where they are both being fitted for "Boom Town."

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE NIGHT theater crowd had deserted the streets. A stranger shoved his hand into his pocket and drew out a cigarette package. He cast it into the gutter. It was empty. A swaggering, furtive figure followed. The derelict's pocket bulged as though a weapon was carried there.

WINDOW lights from a corner drug store groped across the sidewalk. The clerk was figuring the day's receipts.

"You got under the wire by a nose, friend," yawned the clerk. "What do you want?"

"Give me a pack of cigarettes." The coin jingled as it bounced across the counter. "My what a tough looking mug for a store clerk," the stranger mused.

The door opened, slowly. Automatically, it slammed shut.

"Stick 'em up! This is a holdup!" It was the "tough."

Up shot both pair of hands. The muscles in the clerk's face numbed with emotion. His hands trembled. With hands still uplifted, he came from in back of the counter.

"Why you big bum —— I'll ——"

The gunman wavered. "Gee, I bet you would. I — I didn't know you wuz no prize-fighter!" With that the thug rushed out—into the arm of a passing patrolman.

The stranger gazed quizzically at the clerk's broken nose and cauliflowered ear.

"Gee! You were a fighter. But, what you did took plenty nerve!"

"I'LL SAY it did stranger," shouted the clerk wiping his perspiring forehead with a trembling hand. "I never was in a prizering in my life. I got this busted beak and the tin-ear in an automobile accident."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Lucile Robinson

WHAT DO I want? I don't know. I've never known. But I used to think I would.

How plainly it all comes back—the wonder and worry of beginning life. Confusion everywhere.

Yet, surely, this lovely world was made for happiness! Then why didn't people make up their minds what they want to do, and go after that happiness? But they didn't.

Of one thing only I was sure—I wasn't going to spoil my life that way. No muddling along for me! Presently, when I was a little older, and the dizziness had quieted, I was going to sit down and plan everything out. I would decide exactly what I wanted to be, and then I'd go right ahead and be it.

SO I PLANNED, at 15, at 20, at 23. Instead of making a simple choice of between doing This or doing That, I had to choose between thousands of likely projects, each one of which appealed to me tremendously. For I, myself, was as varied as the complicated world in which I lived.

I was scores of persons, all tied together in one lanky, blonde bundle. And each one of those persons wanted to do or be something different from all the others! And how could I possibly decide which person I would be?

YET, even while these conflicting desires tore at my heart, I've wanted to be a Brilliant, Beautiful Bad Woman, eating forbidden apples from every tabooed tree!

So the years have gone—happy in spots, for a very little while; harassed by confusion and curiosity, restlessness and remorse, most of the time.

AND, IN SPITE OF ALL THE EXPERIMENTS I'VE MADE AND THE TEARS I'VE SHED, I STILL DON'T KNOW WHAT I WANT!

But I've made one helpful discovery. IF I don't know what I want, neither does anyone else!

SUSPENDS TERM OF 2 IN DEATH

He was taking his seventh driving lesson when the car ran down and killed a 75-year-old South End woman, then he fled the scene, motor vehicle inspectors testified about 18-year-old William F. Allen in municipal court today.

Allen, who lives in Leland st., Roxbury, was charged with his 20-year-old uncle, James Allen of Dennis st., Roxbury, with manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident and dangerous driving.

The charges were made against James Allen, police explained, because he was teaching the younger boy to drive.

Judge Riley found no probable cause on the manslaughter complaint, but gave each youth a three months' suspended sentence on the other charges.

The two sat stonily in court as officers explained how 75-year-old Mrs. Hannah Goldman of Harrison ave. was crossing the street to her home with her 12-year-old granddaughter Sunday evening after having been to the movies when the Allen car came along.

"William told us he didn't see the woman till he was within 10 feet of her," officers said. "She died instantly."

The little girl was uninjured.

Trooper Killer Of 'Doll Girl' Is Cleared

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., March 15 (AP)—The last charge against suspended State Police Corporal Benjamin Franklin in the slaying of a 14-year-old Nesquehoning, Pa., schoolgirl was dropped today, clearing the way for his reinstatement.

Franklin already had been acquitted of charges of murder and voluntary manslaughter in shooting frail 'Doll Girl' Joan Stevens last June 3 during questioning about a bank robbery plot.

Judge Samuel E. Shull today ordered dismissal of an involuntary manslaughter charge. District Attorney Albert H. Heimbach said the case could not be prosecuted successfully.

Franklin, who said he fired at the girl when she threatened him with a gun which proved later to be a toy, has been under $5000 bail since his acquittal last January.

Hints President Out At R. I. State College

KINGSTON, R. I., March 15 (AP)—The Beacon, student publication at Rhode Island State College, in an editorial today described as "puzzling" the granting of a six-month sabbatical leave of absence to President Raymond G. Bressler by the trustees for state colleges and called upon the board "to enlighten us on a few matters."

Referring to "rumors which place his (Dr. Bressler's) return as executive in doubt," the editorial declared:

"For the past few months we as students have been conscious of the pressure brought to bear upon Dr. Bressler in his administrative position."

3 Perish in Hotel Fire at Toronto

TORONTO, March 15 (AP)—Two men and a woman were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the Avonmore Hotel in downtown Toronto. Ewelve persons were injured, two critically.

The proprietor of the hotel was able to identify only two of the dead, James Hart and Mrs. Nellie Gibson, both of Toronto.

Tufts Jibe at Jackson Boomerangs

Tufts students will find they have talked themselves out of invitations to Jackson College's Pan-Hellenic dance at the Hotel Kenmore tomorrow night, the co-eds agreed today as they bristled at the "effrontery" of results of a poll appearing in the undergraduate "Tufts Weekly."

The story publishes figures which give the girls much the worst of it. Some 40 per cent of the undergraduates show dissatisfaction with Jackson girls while 73 per cent select for dates girls not attending their sister school in Medford.

This story brought a barrage of feminine war whoops. All agreed in common chorus that there will be no Tufts delegation at their dance tomorrow night.

COAKLEY TESTIFIES AS CONNOLLY DEFENSE ENDS

him," testified Coakley. "I think I got it back in two sums. I can't say."

He has known Conway for about 25 years, Coakley said.

"Has he a general reputation, Mr. Coakley, for truth and veracity?" the witness was asked.

"Yes," he replied

"What is it?"

"Good," said the councilor.

Next witness to take the stand after Coakley today was Edward J. Dooley, who identified himself as a South Boston horse trader and dealer in horse-drawn equipment.

He testified he loaned Conway a total of $1250 in August and September, 1936.

The loan was in three installments, but Conway paid it back in one lump sum in February, 1937, Dooley told the court.

He said he had no bank record or written memorandum to attest the loan.

In the horse trading business he is accustomed to keep at least $1000 or $1500 in cash in hand, because "horse traders want cash on the line," he attested.

He said he had known Conway 25 or 30 years.

Next witness was James T. Purcell, School st. restaurant owner.

REVEAL OTHER LOANS

He said he loaned Conway $900 to $1100 in "odd sums" and was repaid early in 1937.

James F. "Seventy" Powers of Charlestown, a retired navy man who said he also had been in the tavern business and the "sports promotion racket," testified he loaned Conway $400 in three sums and was repaid in a lump sum in early months of 1937.

Martin H. Tobin of Westvliet st., Dorchester, said he loaned Conway $500 and got it back I ntwo payments in January and March, 1937.

He did not draw the money out of the bank, but had it on his person when he made the loan, Tobin testified. He said he did not deposit the cash when it was repaid.

Under cross-examination, he testified his brother, John, was appointed to a job in Connolly's office in July, 1937.

TELLS OF $3400 DEBT

He was forced to borrow from friends, Conway testified, because of a debt he had incurred in the campaign without the knowledge of Connolly, former clerk of the Suffolk Superior Civil Court.

This debt amounted to about about $3400, but he hadn't told Connolly about it until three years later when the bar association had filed a petition asking Connolly's removal from office, Conway told the jury.

Throughout his testimony Conway agreed with the statements of former Connolly workers as to the time and amounts of money contributed by them.

But wherever they testified the money was given in efforts to keep their jobs, Conway insisted in his testimony, they had made the contributions voluntarily.

'ANXIOUS TO GIVE'

In fact, Conway testified, it was Miss Marguerite Kennedy, an employe of the clerk's office, who first suggested that employes give money to him to clear up the debt that had been incurred in the campaign.

Not only did Miss Kennedy give $200 herself, but she suggested that the other girls probably would be glad of the opportunity to contribute, Conway testified.

All seemed too anxious to give, Conway indicated. There was that Boston patrolman, whose sister-in-law had been reinstated through Conway's efforts—he shoved $350 into Conway's pockets, although he himself insisted he did not want it, Conway stated.

He returned $100 of the money, and kept $250, Conway added.

Asked by Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle why he had taken it, Conway declared:

"He insisted on giving it."

"For what?" persisted Doyle.

"I don't know, except in appreciation for what I had done for his sister-in-law, and he must have known about the campaign deficit," replied Conway.

Court Orders Bioff to Jail

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—The criminal court ruled today that William Bioff must complete service of an 18-year-old sentence of six months for pandering, but left open the door for a further legal fight for freedom.

Chief Justice John Prystalski dismissed the west coast movie labor leader's petition for a writ of habeas corpus and ordered him remanded to the house of correction.

Then he delayed entering of the order to March 25 and continued Bioff's $5000 bond, affording defense counsel times to proceed to the State Supreme Court.

Bioff's counsel, State Sen. Abraham Marovitz, declined to comment on his next step, but the customary procedure in such instances is to take an appeal to the higher court by means of an original writ of habeas corpus.

NYA Plans Cut In State Rolls

There will be a seasonal reduction in the Massachusetts National Youth Administration workers, John L. Donovan, Jr., NYA State administrator, announced today.

Donovan explained that the reduction is a routine procedure in government agencies providing work assistance. The largest number of young men and women are employed during the winter months, it was stated.

Of the 23,000 who were on NYA in-school and out-of-school programs during the winter, 2000 have been released. Boards of review in each district will select replacements for vacancies, as the ocrur, from eligibles showing the greatest need.

Slum Clearance Plan For 6 Farm States

WASHINGTON, March 15 (INS) President Roosevelt today extended the slum clearance program to rural areas. He approved a U. S. Housing Authority rehousing program amounting to $2,805,000 to "provide modern sanitary homes at low rental for farm families of low income, including owner operators, tenants, share-croppers and rural wage workers."

The first six projects will be in Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Britain Acts as New Trade Threat Looms

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Great Britain brought three new weapons into her economic front line today to meet the threat of a German-Russian-Italian bloc aimed at capturing her trade.

Her effort was intended to fortify the British position in the economic struggle by increasing her reserves of foreign exchange for purchases of war supplies, mobilizing the resources of the British and French overseas empires and driving German securities from British money markets.

These measures coincided with reports in Belgrade that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany had suggested to Italy formation of a German-Italian-Russian economic bloc with "all small states between these powers."

YUGOSLAVIA SKEPTICAL

As reported in Belgrade, Von Ribbentrop's proposal to the Italian government would put Europes small Baltic, central and southeastern states in the economic orbit of the three totalitarian powers, with whom some already do most of their trading.

Yugoslav officials, although impressed by Rome-Berlin axis economic collaboration, were skeptical, however, that Italy would consider taking Russia into partnership.

As Britain pulled in her belt another notch, the Times of London forecast the likelihood of further sacrifices, emphasizing the need of "diverting from civilian consumption something like half of the whole current production in order to devote it to winning the war."

3 NEW MEASURES

These were the three new British measures:

1—To tighten its hold on foreign exchange, the government banned private importation of canned and bottled fruits, beginning next Tuesday.

The United States has been Britain's chief provider of canned and bottled fruits. In 1938 more than $14,000,000 worth was imported from the United States.

2—To organize British-French colonial co-operation in order to utilize all of both empires' resources for the war effort.

3—Large-scale selling in Britain of securities, chiefly negotiable bonds on behalf of German interests, was disclosed in a stock exchange warning to members to "exercise greatest caution in accepting and executing orders, the real source of which they are not able to verify beyond all reasonable doubt."

French Crisis Seen in Parley

PARIS, March 15 (AP)—As the French Senate gathered for a second day of secret debate on the allied war strategy, former Premier Leon Blum's newspaper Le Populaire described the atmosphere in Paris as "a political crisis whose consequences cannot be gauged."

The second session opened in the afternoon, with Premier Daladier, Air Minister Guy La Chambge and Interior Minister Albert Sarraut entering the Upper House shortly before the doors were closed.

Amid this feeling of tension and general press criticism, which for three hours yesterday had Premier Daladier explaining to the senators the French-British conduct of the war, it appeared likely that the Senate would reach a vote tonight on the whole question of allied effectiveness.

"A vote not of a massive or unanimous character like the others since the start of the hostilities could be interpreted as censure of governmental action," commented Le Petit Journal.

Meanwhile, the Chamber of Deputies approved an appropriation of 55,000,000,000 francs (about $1,155,000,000) for military expenses in the second quarter of 1940. For the first quarter 54,937,000,000 francs previously was appropriated.

Nazis Scuttle Another Ship

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Britain officially announced today the scuttling of the German merchant ship La Coruna, 7414 tons, when a British warship approached her Wednesday in northern waters.

The warship picked up 60 members of the crew. The vessel was set afire and finished her off with gunfire.

The La Coruna left Rio De Janeiro Feb. 3 and apparently was trying to reach home through Norwegian waters. She rode low in the water when she slipped away from Rio although her declared cargo, which included 30,000 bags of coffee and 2000 cases of lard and some mica and nickel ore, totaled only 1600 tons.

A Brazilian source at the time said she was loaded with much coal

FINN CHIEF THANKFUL TO U. S.

HELSINKI March 15 (AP via Radio)—Vaino Tanner, Finnish foreign minister, declared today that the more than 50,000 Finns who fell in the war with Russia died or were wounded "as the defense of western civilization."

(Yesterday Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim estimated officially that about 15,000 Finns died in the conflict, and that the Russian dead probably totalled 200,000.)

Tanner, in a broadcast to the United States thanking Americans for their help, said:

"The war has destroyed property worth hundreds of millions of dollars, and although we lose much by the peace terms we lose more in human values.

"Neither the material help we received nor the sympathy was sufficient to save us from superior power.

"Only a few thousand brave men had time to join our ranks, although others were ready to come to our aid we could not wait for them but werecompelled to come to terms."

He described the destruction caused by air raids and the difficulties of caring for the homeless and the wounded.

"For them we must find a livelihood and a place of shelter. You know how hard it is to leave a place you love. . . . The only consolation they feel is that they still belyong to a race for which they fought," he said.

Still, he continued, Finland will continue to fight to build up a nation, "as we embark on construction."

"Citiens of the United States, we thanq you for your help and wish your great country continued success," he said.

Hacha-Hitler Wires On Czech Aniversary

PRAGUE, March 15 (AP)—A friendly exchange of telegrams between Emil Hacha, president of Germany's Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, and Adolf Hitler today marked the former Czecho-Slovak state's first anniversary under Nazi rule.

Hacha expressed hope for a victory for Germany's "glorious armed forces." The Fuehrer replied with assurances that Germany did not intend "to provide the Czech people with burdens which could threaten its national existence."

INFORMATION CORNER

Query: As I understand your rules, it is necessary to send 10 cents in coin with each week's series of answers. Will there be any other charge?

Reply: No.

Query: The puzzles I sent in last week were torn rather roughly from the newspaper, and I fear I did not make an altogether neat job of it. Will my untidyness count against me?

Reply: No. Neatness does not count. All we ask is that the answers you send in be distinct and legible.

Query: May I use pencil to fill in my answers?

Reply: Yes. You may fill in your answers in pencil, pen and ink or typewriter—any way you like—just so they are legible. Neatness and attractiveness do not count.

Copyright 1940, by Publishers Service Co., Inc.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2—Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, c/o The Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third, or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles without assistance, in the office of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6—Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the Contestant.

FINNS BEGIN EVACUATION

1500 square miles of territory handed over to Russia it is doubtful if 1000 persons would remain. No one, however, is compelled to leave.

All normal traffic in Finland was at a standstill, as everything on wheels and runners was commandeered to carrying the departing people and their goods from the ceded districts. Regular train services were suspended excepting connections with Sweden.

As the gigantic task of evacuation went forward, the Finnish government issued a moving appeal to foreign correspondents not to occupy a seat on a train which might carry a homeless Finn to freedom.

Under terms of the Moscow peace treaty, Finns leaving the territory turned over to Russia are permitted to take with them their furniture, machinery, livestock and personal property. But all structures must be left untouched.

SNOW SLOWS PILGRIMAGE

Evacuation of the Hango peninsula, leased by the Russians for a naval base, proved the biggest problem and arrangements were being made to dump much property for this area at Ekanas outside the leased area.

Trucks, buses, taxicabs and sleds are ceaselessly moving back and forth, laden with the family belongings of farmers, peasants and workers.

A heavy fall of snow hindered the sad pilgrimage.

These daily marches, on a schedule provided in connection with Tuesday's peace treaty, will continue until the newly-narrowed Finnish frontiers are crossed.

MARCH 26 DEADLINE

The entire Karelian isthmus and one area northeast of Lake Ladoga must be cleared by March 26. Withdrawal from other ceded areas north of Lieksa and in eastern Finland will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The garrison from Taipale, eastern end of the Mannerheim Line, will have the longest march—about 100 kilometers (62 miles).

The hollow shell of Viipuri, once the metropolis of the Karelian isthmus, will be one of the first places to be occupied by the Russians, for they already are in its outskirts and may move up tonight as soon as the Finns have put seven kilometers between them.

The Russian command had reported Viipuri was occupied five hours before hostilities ended at 11 a. m., March 13.

The Finnish government is paying all costs of moving and resettlement and will try to keep together friends and neighbors in new homes.

MOSCOW, March 15 (AP)—Immediate organization of ceded Finnish territory into an autonomous Soviet Socialist state republic was considered today to be the principal task of the supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R., convoked for March 29.

The summons to the Parliament, coming three days after the peace treaty, led informed observers to predict that after formal ratification of the pact the supreme Soviet would act speedily to establish Communist rule in what the government newspaper Izvestia termed a former "anti-Soviet war base."

This reference to the Karelian Isthmus, where Finland bore the brunt of the Russian assault, prompted one observation that war-lost Finnish land would be strategically split.

The isthmus would be assimilated by the Leningrad military district, according to this view, and the remainder of the ceded territory, the northern shores of Lake Ladoga and eastern central Finland, would be incorporated into the existing Karelian Soviet republic, northeast of the isthmus itself.

'Blitzpeace' Plan Told to Welles

with Russia if he decides to postpone the rumored March military offensive against Britain and France.

The Daily Sketch said Welles' European visit has proved that "America is likely to play a big diplomatic part in future European developments" and that London and Paris are convinced Welles' tour is a preliminary to a visit during or after the war of a still more important American emissary.

Intimate conversations with London authorities, the Sketch continued, convinced Welles that the Allies will make no compromise with Nazi Germany.

The Sketch added it had gathered that Welles was not favorably impressed by the German case and had found one great weakness in Germany—an "intellectual blackout."

According to the paper, Mussolini in his conversations with Welles drew a picture of Italy's imperial ambitions and of Il Duce's own anxiety to crown his life's work with an assurance of the permanence of the Italian Empire.

One of the dominent impressions Welles will take home with him, the Sketch said, is that Europe needs security.

Gennan Must Die as French Spy

PARIS, March 15 (AP)—A former second leutenant in the German army, Karl Schmerer Steinberg, was sentenced to death today by a military court on a charge of espionage. He is a native of Vienna and was arrested in Paris last July.

By ANNICE BRINK

The lady of elegance might choose the svelte afternoon gown modelled at the left when she wants to be at her very best . . . and then find that this dress is the one she can depend on for any occasion.

The dress illustrated today might be taken as an example for any woman who needs a slightly slenderizing line; it's just one of those dream-dresses that really take pounds off, and it isn't any accident, as it was definitely planned that way!

This lovely dress was designed by Louise Barnes Gallagher, a Yankee girl, who stood up nobly in competition with all those fancy-named Frenchmen and Frenchwomen, many of whom were not as Gallic. Louise was once a shrewd buyer, and now she ranks with the highest of the fanciest authorities.

The frock is a black silk crepe, buttoned closely from neck to hem. It has inserts of accordion pleating, vertically placed at the shoulders and on the hipline. The sleeves are three-quarter length, the better to show off the rich doeskin gloves.

I shall be pleased to tell this and several similar dresses can be bought if you call LIBerty 4000, weekdays, except Saturdays, or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Junior League

Orchestra Gives Concert

Patrons for the concert given by the Junior League Orchestra at the League last evening included many Bostonians well known in musical and social circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ballantine headed the list and others were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ames Cook, Miss Mabel Daniels, composer, Mr. Arthur Fiedler, Mr. Heinrich Gebhard, Miss Emilia Gebhard, Miss Josephine Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Lang, Mr. Georges Laurent, Mr. Richard Platt, Miss Helen Ranney and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Thiele.

Two spring brides-to-be were among the League musicians taking part in the concert. Miss Nancy Viele, who will be married to Gordon Donald of Weston, March 30, played with the second violin section, and Miss Anne Mixter, whose wedding to T. Edmund Skinner is scheduled for May 25, was the percussion player.

Debs as Ushers

Mimi Blake Leads Group

Mimi Blake, deb daughter of the Arthur Blakes of Dedham, who has been away at college during most of her "first year out," will have her share of ushering duties during Easter vacation from Bryn Mawr.

She has already been signed up as head usher for the lecture which Joseph Platt, designer of interior sets for "Gone With the Wind," will give at the Junior League, March 28, under the auspices of the Massachusetts chapter of the Institute of Decorators.

Assisting Mimi with ushering duties will be Amabel Eshleman, Marianne A. Crocker, Susan R. Chapin, Jeanne Loring White, Betsey Cleborne, Betsy Inches, Margaret Fry, Genevra Hobbs and Catharine Ross.

The second lecture in this series, of which Mrs. Clarence V. Burrage is chairman, will be given by Col. Anthony Dyer of Providence, renowned painter and world traveler.

Confirmation Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. What would you suggest as a gift to a girl for her confirmation?

2. What present would you suggest for a boy for his confirmation?

W. L.

1. A book would be an appropriate gift. Or I'm sure she would like some sheer white handkerchiefs embroidered with her monogram, or even better perhaps, her first name. A pen and pencil set is a good gift for this occasion too, with her name or initials imprinted on them in gilt letters. Or a lovely scarf, perhaps with a handkerchief or a beret to match.

2. To a boy, for his confirmation present, you might also give the pen and pencil set, plain white handkerchiefs, a wrist watch. He would appreciate a clock for his desk. A typewriter, if this is within your budget. A box of generous sized letter-paper. Books. A subscription to a magazine specializing in one of his hobbies or enthusiasms.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

We are to have our first annual banquet of a ladies' society, and as I am an officer I would like to know if the husbands of the officers should sit at the table with the invited guests all women?

As it is a woman's society, and the guests will be women, do you think it would be better to have the husbands at a near-by table and not with us?

T.

Since you are inviting the husbands to the banquet, it would be more gracious to let them join the ladies. In other words, hospitably arrange your table-seating as you would for any other kind of dinner party, alternately women and men. And remember that at any dinner party a husband and wife are not seated next to each other.

PEANUT CLUSTERS

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

INGREDIENTS

½ lb. semisweet chocolate
½ c. sweetened condensed milk
1 c. whole, unsalted peanuts

METHOD OF PREPARATION

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water. Remove from heat and add condensed milk and peanuts, stirring constantly. As soon as mixture thickens, drop from a teaspoon on a greased baking sheet or plate to cool. Cool thoroughly in refrigerator. Makes about 36. If desired, seedless raisins may be substituted for peanuts.

SERVE for a children's party with milk and chicken sandwiches.

TODAY'S SOCIETY BRIDES have chosen the springlike combination of green and white as the color scheme for their weddings . . .

Green and white striped taffeta with contrasting bouquets of scarlet tulips and white freesia fashion the costumes of the bride's sisters, Mrs. William Fransworth Loomis and Louise Amory, the only attendants . . . Dr. Paul Hagemann of St. Louis is best man . . .

Following a small reception the newlyweds are leaving for a honeymoon in Florida and will make their home in St. Louis . . . The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hagemann of St. Louis, and the bride, a Junior League and Vincent Club member, made her debut in 1936 . . .

Margaret Burnett Weds

A LARGE RECEPTION at Deerfoot, the Southboro estate of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall Burnett, follows the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to John MacIntosh Callaway of Long Island, in St. Mark's Church this afternoon . . .

The tall dark haired bride, more intimately known to her sister debs of 1934-35 as Madge, is carrying lilies of the valley and white orchids with her gown of white faille and her tulle veil falls from a circlet of orange blossoms . . .

A bevy of bridesmaids, all gowned in white marquisette with green faille belts and slippers, precede her down the aisle . . . They include the Misses Nancy Lee Burnett, Nancy Holdsworth, Elizabeth Robb, Caroline Oveson, Mrs. Richard Walters, Jr., all of Boston, Mrs. Hoyt Ammidon and Mignon Devereux of New York, and Mrs. George Armistead of Little Rock . . .

The bridesmaids' gowns are fashioned with full skirts, trains and bishop sleeves and enhanced by headdresses of fresh white iris to match their bouquets . . .

After the rehearsal last evening the bride and groom were toasted at a large dinner party given by Mrs. Robert H. Burnett of Southboro . . .

The newlyweds will live in Westwood . . . Mr. Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Callaway of Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., is a Harvard, '37, graduate . . . His brother, Sam, married Louise Harding of Chestnut Hill . . .

Musicale to Aid Finnish Relief

MRS. RICHARD STRONG and her sister, Mrs. C. Nichols Greene, are two of Boston society's most enthusiastic leaders in war relief work . . . Mrs. Strong, a volunteer in France during the last war, devotes her time to the needs of France and Britain, and her sister will be hostess at a musicale in the organ room of her beautiful Chestnut st. home, Sunday afternoon, to raise funds for Finnish relief . . .

Dr. and Mrs. Strong are leaving for Canada, Sunday, after a busy week of entertaining . . . They were hosts at a dinner party for debs and Harvardians before the last waltzing party and invited several sons of their Newport summer neighbors to provide fresh fodder for dinner table conversation . . . Guests included Tony Villa and Daniel Jones of Newport, Quentin Roosevelt, grandson of the late President, Rosie Hamlin, Betsy Bradley, Eleanor Rice, Anne Grant, Gail Neilson, Christina Lowell and others . . .

Miss Lowell will be hostess at a dinner party tomorrow evening before taking her guests on to Violet Brooks and Sally Russell's debut dance . . . Place cards will be written for debutantes Dorothy Gannett, Betsy Braddy, Justine Hooper, Anne Phillips, Mary Louise Rice, Anne Grant and an equal number of Harvardians.

Boston Evening American Photo

CHARMING BETSY BRADLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradley of Beacon st., will be among the debutante guests at the dinner party which Christina Lowell is giving tomorrow evening, preceding the debut dance for Violet Brooks and Sally Russell at the Women's Republican Club. The dinner will take place at the Alfred Lowells' Mt. Vernon st. home.

Activities of Socialites

SEEN ABOUT TOWN . . . Paul Killiam who is helping out as graduate adviser for the Hasty Pudding show, singing Noel Coward songs with Eugenia Rawls as they sat one out at the Balinese Room. Miss Rawls, a Georgia society girl, plays the part of the child in "The Little Foxes."

. . . Mrs. Winthrop Adams of Jamaica Plain departing for a late winter sojourn in sunny Cuba.

. . . Mrs. Albion Danforth selecting her Easter costume in a Boylston st. shop . . . The ensemble, of grey wool, has a full length cape lined with a splashy black and white plaid taffeta, and the dress is tastefully trimmed with trapunto work . . .

. . . Margie Fiy lending her beach wagon for transporting instruments of members of the Junior League Orchestra from one concert to another. The girls have been presenting concerts in many greater Boston charitable institutions.

Musicale Sponsors

SIROIS TAKES NEW G.O.P. JOB

Maj. Edward Sirois of Lawrence today occupied the driver's seat of the Massachusetts Republican party. Member of the governor's secretariat, well-known among World War veterans and state representative for three terms, he was named chairman of the Republican state committee.

Selected at a special meeting, he succeeds George W. Sawyer, who resigned because of his duties as state public works commissioner, a post to which he was appointed three months ago.

The committee also named Col. Sinclair Weeks, former mayor of Newton, to be Massachusetts member of the Republican national committee to succeed Cong. Joseph W. Martin of North Attleboro. Martin had resigned to devote his full time to his duties as minority leader in the national House.

Experts Bow In Flower Vote

Behind the scenes of the flower show in Mechanics Building, a "secret" vote of some 10,000 spectators today was upsetting the selections of the experts.

The lofty judges singled out the rare orchids for recognition and the spectacular vista-like as 'the best in the show.'

But the vote of the general public thus far scores its choice for the No. 1 flower is the yellow, fragrant acacia. The amaryllis are No. 2 on the people's list.

Miss Elizabeth Woodley, who introduced the novel popularity ballot at the show for the first time this year, said voting closed at noon today, and that final results will be announced tomorrow.

Texas Town Mourns 28 Killed in Crash

ALAMO, Tex., March 15 (INS)—This heavily Mexican-populated community today mourned 28 dead in a truck-car accident which annihilated the Mexican victims' closely and caused sorrow in a scattered funeral.

Twenty-seven were brought when a Mexican picture theater bus plunged into a burning and exploding gasoline truck at a curve just outside the city limits. Another died in hospital. Two others were injured. Only five of those in the bus escaped injury.

GIRL HELD IN FIRES

FALL RIVER, March 15—A 15-year-old girl, held in connection with two fires here Tuesday and Friday, has confessed illegally setting that fire in a three-family apartment house. She has admitted setting the blaze to spite her employer, police charged.

Home and Kitchen

Fish Ideal Luncheon Dish

By MARTHA LEE

FISH FOR LUNCH is more and more becoming the habit of busy people who cannot afford hours spent sluggishly after noontime meals, according to fishery authorities.

Workers who must keep at high speed during the afternoon demand a luncheon food which can easily be digested by the ordinary digestive juices. Heavy foods which, in digesting, rob the body of energy needed for business are taboo.

LIGHT AND HEALTHFUL FOOD

Being a light food, fish fits the bill. It yields readily to the fork and is quickly turned into energy by the body without taxing the digestive organs. Fish are naturally buoyant and so do not have to support themselves for the water does that. This makes for a light, lean flesh which, upon cooking digests easily while supplying the body with all the protein, vitamin and mineral matter necessary.

The need for a light food is a reflection of the modern age. Workers, today, do not perform the heavy manual labor of their ancestors for there are all kinds of machines for that purpose. Office workers cannot expect to digest the heavy meals their forbears indulged in. Lighter, but nourishing meals, are required and more than ever fish and seafood is being used for such demands.

PANNED DABS WITH DILL SAUCE

Roll small dabs in seasoned flour. Saute on both sides. Add 2 green onions or 1 small, minced onion and ½ cup pimiento, chopped, to ½ cup mayonnaise. Season with dash of pepper sauce (tabasco). Serve with fish.

HADDOCK WITH CELERY SAUCE

Boil haddock in fish stock. Serve with celery sauce: Cook diced celery in water to cover until tender. Drain. To one cup cooked celery add equal amount of milk. To each cup liquid use 2 tablespoons butter, and 2 tablespoons flour. Melt butter, add flour. When boiling add milk slowly. Cook. Season with salt and pepper. Add cooked celery. Pour sauce over fish. Garnish with chopped celery leaves.

PAN FRIED BUTTERFISH

Roll fish in seasoned flour or cornmeal. Saute quickly until brown on 1 side. Carefully turn and brown on other side. If fish is so soft, fish will break if not handled carefully while cooking.

FISH AND NOODLES—ITALIAN

Cook 1 small package bread noodles. Flake 2 cups cooked fish. Place alternate layers fish and noodles in a buttered dish with top layer noodles. Add to 1 can of tomato soup ready for serving, 1 tsp. onion juice, ½ tsp. celery salt, ½ tsp. salt and dash of pepper. Pour into baking dish and sprinkle top with buttered crumbs. Bake until brown on top or slowly heat on an asbestos pad on top of stove.

ROLLED FILLETS, SPANISH DRESSING

Cook 1 lb. spinach with one small finely chopped onion. Drain and chop. Add 1 tsp. butter, salt to taste. Cook and 1 beaten egg and crumbs. Mix ingredients together. Spread some of mixture on each fillet, being careful not to get mixture too near edges. Roll fillets and fasten. Grease bottom of baking dish with oil. Put fillets cut side up. Bake.

BROILED MACKEREL MAITRE D'HOTEL

Split mackerel for broiling or use fillets. Clean with cloth. Broil on flesh side down and brush with oil. Drain. Spread this sauce on fish. Cream 2 tablespoons butter, season well with salt, pepper, cayenne. Add 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and 1 tablespoon finely minced parsley.

STUFFED HADDOCK

Make stuffing of 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 pimientos, chopped, and 1 small onion, minced, and ¼ cup diced celery creamed in 2 tablespoons of butter and soft. Add salt and pepper to taste. Add milk until the stuffing is moist enough to bind together. Then stuff fish, sew up and put in oiled pan. Brush fish with fat. Bake in hot oven until fish is tender, about 20 minutes per pound. Baste for serving.

You Can Be Beautiful

A Gift With Your Powder

By ARLINE GOULD

WE FEEL SO GOOD and full of smugness today, because we are here, smirking and bowing, with news of a real, free-for-nothing gift. We know, and we are passing it along to you, that starting next Monday you can get, with a box of our favorite face powder, a present of rouge and lipstick in the newest shades!

That's what is called, in newspaper stories and movies (but never in newspaper offices) a "scoop." Really, this gift is one of the most generous and practical we know.

It is a cute arrangement of a transparent compact containing this famous rouge, with puff and all, and attached to it, cleverly enough, a lipstick. The two form an accessory for your handbag . . . and months of use in both of them. No more hunting madly through your purse for the two separate items.

There really isn't any excuse for giving these things away, for the rouge and lipstick are at least half the size of the regular sizes which sell for at least a dollar each. But this is an Easter gift. You get them merely by buying a dollar box of the famous face powder of this house, in the shade which you select.

This powder, aside from any gifts, is one of the loveliest on the market. It is thrice-sifted, light as air, silky as a pussy willow blossom. It comes in a big, gold and white box, and lasts for ages . . . and it is scented so cleverly with a lovely perfume that hours after you have powdered your nose, the fragrance clings.

This gift is just on as an Easter offer. If you want to get free rouge and lipstick with your powder, call Arline Gould at Liberty 1000 week-days except Saturdays, up to 5; or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Love And Marriage

Loves Teacher 2 Years Older

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 18 years old and met a teacher a couple of years ago. She is in her early 20's, single, and lives with her family. As she is not in the same school with me I make dates with her and sometimes she keeps them. But as a rule she breaks them for some little excuse.

Although I've never met her family they seem to resent me because of something I wrote in a letter to the girl and which she evidently allowed them to read.

She thinks I'm too young for her and tells me to go out with other girls of my own age. I do that, but still I'd rather go with her. I really love her and always shall. And she says she likes me, too. I've tried to forget her, but wish you could tell me how I can make her realize I love her. WORRIED.

In the course of human events, I believe it's not unlikely that you may be in and out of love a dozen times before you marry this charming young teacher of 20.

But if you do remain in love, and the case proves to be serious, two years seniority on the part of a girl is no drawback. Meantime, I think her advice to you to enlarge your circle of acquaintances and go out with other girls is excellent, and I hope sincerely that you'll fellow it.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Would it be proper for a 17-year-old girl to go on an outing with another girl and two boys of the same age? This hike would be in the afternoon, and we are not planning on taking a chaperon. JANE.

If your parents are willing, I see no objection to your going on the outing, even if you go unchaperoned. That lady seems definitely cut of the picture these days.

New HEALTH COOKING with CP Gas Range means Extra Energy for the whole family

ONLY $119.70 and your old stove

May be purchased for less than $1.00 a week . . and small down-payment.

Mother, children — and dad, too — can laugh at winter when modern CP cooking builds them up. The remarkable health values of the super-save simmer method for vegetables are now easily available. With a Certified Performance Gas Range, this extra-low simmer cooking saves 30% more health-building minerals and vitamins.

Controlled low-temperature cooking of vegetables is possible only with the amazing new gas simmer burner. By all other methods a large part of those precious minerals and vitamins are boiled away or poured down the drain.

But CP also gives you unequalled full-speed-ahead when wanted — faster, more healthful, smokeless broiling — 20% to 30% less meat shrinkage in roasting, through even circulation of controlled heat.

Your friendly neighborhood Gas Company office will gladly demonstrate these and many other things that Modern CP Gas Cooking can do for you.

News Note!
NEW LOW GAS RATE
Now when you use over 2,000 cubic feet of gas per month, you enjoy a saving of 20% reduction on all gas above that amount. Inquire today about this Money Saving New Rate.

HOW TO COOK CARROTS THE WONDERFUL NEW HEALTH WAY Prepare carrots for boiling; place in utensil and set over SIMMER BURNER; add only ½ cup of water; turn Burner to high speed until boiling is reached; then turn to "click" position and cook until carrots are done.

Dinner to Honor Wm. J. Galvin

Friends and political associates of William J. Galvin of Charlestown, president of the city council, will give him a testimonial banquet Tuesday night, March 26, at the Hotel Bradford.

The banquet is in recognition of his rapid rise in city affairs to head the council in his second term, one of the youngest council presidents in Boston's history.

The committee handling the dinner arrangements expect 3200 to attend, and an elaborate entertainment program has been arranged.

John P. Doherty is general chairman of the committee. Attorney General Paul Dever will be toastmaster, presenting Mayor Tobin and many other city, county and state officials.

THE HAY

A Complete Short Story Daily on This Page

By SHANE O'NEILL

IT'S a surprising thing what can happen to make merchandise improve or, on the other hand, deteriorate. That's the way it was with the hay on Gorman's place.

If you've a man like McKeown for head stableman, you don't question much what he has to say.

"I'll not step out of me boots," he'll tell you, "but I know me place, and it's not truckling under by a bunch of Saxon farmers, I'm a horseman. I was born a horseman, and that's what I'll die . . . a horseman! If you've no need for me, then I can go—but as long as I'm here, I'll do me job for you, and for your horses."

The Cast of Characters in "The Hay"

J. R. SEFTING, prosperous farmer and breeder of horses.
McKEOWN, horseman in Sefting's employ.
GORMAN, a farmer with whom McKeown carries on a feud.

That's what McKeown said when his boss wanted to know why he wouldn't buy hay from Gorman whose farm laid next door, and represented practically no cost of transportation. At nine dollars the ton, you understand, when the hay Mac was buying cost eleven-fifty, counting freightage from Peekskill and all.

It was natural for his boss to want to know why.

"McKeown," he said, "it's not for a minute I doubt you, but this is something I must have a reason for. There's real money involved."

"It's sour hay," said McKeown, and there was no going against him. J. R. Sefting, who was his boss knew that it was up to himself to take the man down and go into the matter. But McKeown was so good with the horses themselves, that you hated to be a hard master to him. There should be some approach.

"How will it be about the matter of the fence, McKeown?" J. R. queried. He knew that not many [illegible], there'd been a dispute of sorts about the fence.

In York state farming country, do you see, it's the rule that men who own adjoining properties must co-operate in keeping the fences mended. One-half to each one, is the way. It seems Gorman's cows had broken the fence between his place and Sefting's, and one day he had spoken McKeown on the subject.

"How about fixin' the half of it?" asked Gorman.

"Fixing your fence?" McKeown's hairy brows rose in embattled defiance. "'Tis your own cows broke it, and 'tis your own side to fix," said he.

But J. R., who believed in peace with his neighbors, gave orders, and the men from his stable fixed half of the damage.

"A shame, sir," said McKeown, and he sulked for a week, allowing the task to grow dull, and the sanded name places to become all but obliterated.

This, to be sure, is a great crime for any stable man, and J. R. was forced to deprive McKeown of several prerogatives for a week or two. But he could not resist the man, and finally restored him to his place, which included the purchasing of stable supplies.

McKEOWN'S VICTORY

"It is not, sir," answered McKeown, "that I was ever one to hold the grudge, even if it is open knowledge that the man Gorman is very low and sneaking in his ways, and would as leave water whiskey as not."

This last was the ultimate in condemnation from McKeown.

J. R. scratched his head, and thought for awhile. On the one hand he could hold the friendship of an unimportant neighbor, on the other he could lose the loyal devotion of the best man with animals the countryside could boast. It was McKeown that won out.

"All right, Mac," said J. R., "and Heaven help you if I find mold in that Peekskill stuff you're buying."

"There'll be never a bit," said McKeown, touching his forelock handsomely, as he'd been taught while a boy. "There's been those that have trusted me, and fine gentlemen, too," said McKeown, "but never a man has had the cause to regret it, sir, nor will you."

It turned out all right. The hay was good, and for the extra twenty-odd dollars it cost, Sefting had the happiness of his stable, although it bothered him a little more than somewhat when he met Gorman upon the road one day.

Hello, J. R.," said Gorman easily. "I see you can't use the man next door's hay. Well, and I hope there'll be no trouble with what you have."

"My man McKeown buys for me," said Sefting, "and when he goes wrong, it will be bad for him. But on this he has not, for the hay we have is good. What about the mold on your own?"

Gorman's face turned purple, and his protruding black eyes started from his head.

"Mold is it!" he shouted. "I'll have you know there's no mold in my hay. It's a cheap grudge, and nothing else, that's costing you $2.50 a ton the more, Mr. J. R. Sefting."

Sefting said nothing, and rode on. He was a man with good hands for a horse, but small tongue for an argument. And besides, he was sick of the dispute.

It was during the winter, when Sefting closed his house, and stopped at a New York apartment hotel that he got bad news. The stableman's cottage was burned down, he learned, and McKeown and his brood were without a roof. He sent a wire quickly, for the big house to be opened up until repairs could be made, but was reassured by an immediate reply . . . by, in fact, a telegram that crossed his own.

"I'm well taken care of," the wire read, "and there's no need to open the house. McKEOWN."

So Sefting thought no more of it. Lock, stock and barrel, he forgot, beyond giving orders to see that McKeown's cottage was rebuilt. His relief at the fact that the horses escaped the fire was so great, that he thought of no details at all, for J. R. Sefting was a man with a woman's heart where horses were concerned.

He went to Bermuda that spring, and from there to Mexico City, and it was the late August when he returned to the farm.

"How are things, Mac?"

"There's this, and there's that," answered McKeown. "Mamie Bright, the two-year-old, sir, she looks good to me. She needs nothing but a couple years' training to show them things at the Hambletonian. On the other hand, there's the gelding, Far-Cry. He's not got the guts he needs, sir, with all his flash, and all his form. He's no horse for us to be racing, sir, and we'll do well to be rid of him, bones and baggage."

That was what McKeown had to say, and it warmed Sefting's heart to be back on his own land, and among his own people.

"Metcalfe, now, McKeown, is he doing all right?" he asked.

"AT THE GORMAN'S?"

"Barring the drink, sir, barring that I could ask for no better," said McKeown. "He's a grand man with a tender mouth, is Metcalfe. And, to be sure, he keeps the drink within bounds. And he's never a man to water your honor's whisky."

"That's fine, that's good," said Sefting absently. He was sitti in the stableman's office, a thumbing through the bills for fe and one thing or another. "Wh about the fire? I see your ho is fixed up for fair."

"It is that, sir," replied McKeo with great satisfaction, "as snug you could ask. But it was a ha time we had till it was done— at the Gormans'."

"At the Gormans'?" J. R.'s to was tinged with disbelief.

"The same. It was black nig you know, sir, and us hardly out the place when I saw it had hope. The roof fell in as soon we were barely out. Thank heav there were none of us caught. W there we were sir, a cold bla night, and no place to go, for t big house was locked tight, and was never one to break a windo cold or not." McKeown paused, a Sefting felt the aura of accusal gross inconsideration drifting ward him.

"Well," he said testily, "well. on then," he looked at the bill his hands for a moment, and th turned his eyes upward at M Keown.

"Well, then, sir, there was G man, and his boy, and they ask us what could they do, but th was never a thing. So——"

"So they took you in—you t did whatever you could to br 'em trouble? That's it. Isn't it J. R. was holding the invoice bef him now.

"That they did sir, and there stayed, until the cottage was built."

THE FEUD ENDS

J. R. slowly studied the bill fore him once more and then ra his eyes once again. He look upon a face bereft of chagrin, guilt or conscience of any kind. innocent face.

"And that will save me two-fi a ton this year, then?" he ask his forefinger pointing to the G man letterhead on the bill bef him. "What of the mold, McKeow What of the fine Peekskill hay eleven-fifty a ton? How ab that?"

"Oh, that, sir," McKeow rugged face was a mask of injur good will, "you'd be throwing th in my face, would you now, sir, that's been your man for these t years. Sure, that was hay that h the rain too late last year. Th was no trouble this year, sir; prime. That Gorman, he's a go man."

J. R. Sefting shook his head he regarded the seamed, bronz faces and failed to find the slighte twinkle in the pale blue eyes.

"All right," he said.

He still wonders when he me Gorman on the road and retur his friendly greeting just how th fire started and just how far York State farmer would go to sure of a good market for the ha

U. S. Army Fliers Test New Life Saving Devices

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 15 (AP)—A new hip-pocket oxygen flask and a new face mask designed to save the lives of America's fighting fliers were exhibited today before the meeting of the Federated Biological Societies.

Dr. Walter M. Boothby of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., who developed the new devices in co operation with Capt. Harry Armstrong of the Army Air Corps' Material Division at Wright Field, declared that the new equipment, now under test by the army, is designed to prevent a pilot from inadvertently committing suicide if he accidentally opens his mouth at high altitudes.

If a pilot flying an airplane at the present "ceilings" of around 35,000 feet does not have oxygen he will die a quick but violent death.

This is prevented in the newer types of fighting ships by either sealed pressure cabins or oxygen masks. With the old type of mask a member of the ship's crew could breathe through his mouth and one gasp would be his last.

The new type of mask, which resembles a hog's snout equipped with a sponge rubber valve, keeps both the nose and mouth covered, with oxygen fed in from a pressure tank. The snout part of the mask was designed to fit into a radio microphone and eliminate the roar of the airplane's engines, thus permitting much clearer communication.

The hip-pocket bottle of oxygen was developed to insure pilots of the necessary supply of gas if they are forced to bail out from high altitudes. It fits into the pocket, is connected by a rubber tube to the mask, and provides enough oxygen to drift by parachute from a height of five or more miles down to a safe altitude for normal breathing.

'OF MICE AND MEN' SKILLFULLY TRANSFERRED TO SCREEN

Loew's Drama Scores

By PEGGY DOYLE

One of the most skilled translations of book into film is "Of Mice and Men," United Artists reproduction of John Steinbeck's stark tragedy of human loneliness now showing on State and Orpheum screens.

Notably successful as a book, the Steinbeck work was hailed as the most sensational and powerful drama of several seasons back, was awarded the New York Drama Critics plaque as the "best of the year" by an American.

The riddle and profane language that started playgoers has been toned down by the Hays office but, thanks to Lewis Milestone's directorial genius, it is as vital and honest a document as was the play.

STEINBECK UNDILUTED

Producer-Director Milestone has no modified with the Steinbeck masterpiece, which moved along almost casually to achieve its smashing dramatic climax; but the subtleties of camera technique have speeded the action and heightened the dramatic qualities of the story.

Extremely effective is the opening sequences showing the short, wiry George and the huge, lumbering half-wit, Lennie, eluding a posse dropping a freight. Not until then are you given the screen credits and the picture's title—on the side of a boxcar.

DANGEROUS PETTER

With their bindles (blanket-rolls) across their shoulders, these California farm vagrants, or bindlestiffs, are on their way to jobs at a Salinas valley barley ranch. Immediately, Director Milestone makes it clear that the runty George is in charge, looking after his pal, Lennie, the hulking hunk of man who likes to pet soft things like birds and rabbits—and a girl's soft hair.

And as George keeps Lennie close to him—ever watchful that the giant half-wit might crush some human, say—trouble with his pow-erful lack of brains. This mustn't happen because George and Lennie are saving for a little ranch of their own where Lennie can raise rabbits and be safe.

STARS ALL GOOD

Burgess Meredith is excellent as George, giving the role sincerity and a sympathy that has nothing of weakness in it. Lon Chaney, Jr., is amazingly good as Lennie and Betty Field is capital as the pretty, sexy wife of the ranch owner's son, who won't stay away from the ranch workers.

On the lighter side is the second Loew film, "Five Little Peppers," featuring cute, young Edith Fellows.

"THANKS for My Wife," due at the Plymouth, Easter Saturday, will bring Alan Dinehart back to Boston after nine years' absence in company with his pretty off-stage bride, Mozelle Britton. The farce comedy has just completed six successful weeks at Chicago's Selwyn Theater.

Tracy, LaMarr Star at Met

By PEGGY DOYLE

Any picture co-starring Hedy LaMarr and Spencer Tracy is a bargain at any price in the opinion of the majority of fans. For, between them, the glamorous Hedy and the Academy award-winning Tracy ('39) must total all but a fraction of the movie going public.

And so the Metropolitan box office is prepared to do a thriving business this week with "I Take This Woman."

Tracy is cast as medical director of a free clinic and Miss LaMarr as a lovely model who marries him and is subsequently discovered to be carrying the torch for her Park ave. boy friend. Kent Taylor, the b.f., once eloped with her to Yucatan but remembered tardily he had a wife.

Meanwhile, the bride, who is not only enigmatic, but Russian, must have the luxuries Playboy Taylor accustomed her to, and to provide them Dr. Tracy reluctantly quits his beloved clinic for a recherche practice uptown.

The doctor is as understanding and sympathetic as mortal man can be, but despite his efforts to win her love they part. The separation brings the bride to a realization that it is not Taylor she loves, but her own husband.

Possibly inspired by Tracy's manful best, Miss LaMarr really turns in a most worthy performance, although, very confidentially, they could have used a less hackeyed story.

Boy Steals Show During RKO Boston Magician's Trick

Sawing-Woman-In-Half Stunt Too Much for Youth

By HARRIS MORGAN

His eyes bugged out in wonderment, a gill-sized tyke from the RKO-Boston audience yesterday watched Will Rock perform his celebrated sawing-a-woman-in-half stunt and stole the show from the professionals.

Touching her bare tootsies, at the magician's behest, to see that she was alive and kicking before the successor of the late, world-famous Thurston commenced his trick of magic, the lad stood spellbound during the performance. Then, at the sound of the woman's shriek announcing the successful climax of the stunt he darted quick like a bunny off the stage and down the aisle.

It was well worth the price of admission, and the artful Rock, blandly satisfied with this bright "snapper" to his opening show, concluded his performance with a bow from the waist.

Initial act on the program was Art Ward and Thelma King, whose eccentric dancing is entertaining if not startling. Following them on the bill are Jimmy and Mildred Mulcay, whose harmonica duetting has a triple tongue tune when they are playing "Rhapsody in Blue."

Al Norman, dancing comedian, does imitations of people sleeping as well as an eccentric and jitterbug dance melange that the shade of Eddie Leonard must be applauding.

The program closes with Will Rock's presentation of "Thurston's Magic Show," including, besides the sawing-in-half stunt, the guillotine, the Indian basket and the Flying Princess trick.

Screen features are "The Marine Fly High," with Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Lucille Ball, and "Murder Is News," co-starring John Gallaudet and Iris Meredith.

Raft to Get His Divorce

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 15—Mrs. Grace Raft, who has been separated from George for 14 years, is expected to divorce him at long last. Their marriage was only of short duration and she is not the mother of his son as most people believe. The first Mrs. Raft died.

George agreed to pay Grace Raft ten per cent of his salary when he was getting only $200 a week and because he is a man of his word he has kept up those payments every week.

Of course, George will marry Norma Shearer when he is free and it doesn't seem that Mrs. Raft could, in all justice to George, refuse now to let him have his happiness.

While we were on tour Ronald Reagan discussed the 'Life of Knute Rockne' with me and expressed his interest in football and especially Rockne. At that time he said that if Warners made the picture he hoped that he could play George Gipp, the football star, who died at the height of his career.

Today he was given his wish and without effort on his part either. His physique and features are not unlike those of Gipp's and so was the immediate choice for the role. Ronnie, naturally, is interested in this picture since he was a football player on the Dixon High School team and at Monmouth College in Missouri. His part is second to that of Pat O'Brien, and this is really the biggest chance he's had on the Warner lot.

Sterling Prison Life Drama On Paramount-Fenway Bills

By DON WARD

That "Castle on the Hudson" picture at the Paramount and Fenway is sterling big-house drama built up around one of the high gray walls stories by Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing. What makes it different from the common run of jail plays is the exceptional strength of the cast, which has Pat O'Brien, John Garfield and Ann Sheridan as stars and such tiptop players as Burgess Meredith, Henry O'Neill, Jerome Cowan, John Litel and 'Big Boy' Guinn Williams in featured roles.

Briefly it's the story of a lastmoving gangster tied up tight to an underworld glamour girl and fretting his head off when they outsmart him and put him behind bars. Garfield is the high-strung bad boy and Miss Sheridan the moll who goes right to work to get him out. So far the action is fairly set. Garfield and Miss Sheridan find O'Brien enters as the humane warden who gives the gangster a break by letting him out on parole when the girl is badly hurt in an accident. But things go wrong. The girl feels obliged to bump off the beel portrayed by Cowan. There's nothing for the boy on parole to do then, but go back and take the rap.

AMERICAN PHOTOG TO BROADCAST

First public description of the Speed Ray," the Boston Evening American's new -100,000th-of-a-second photo-taking process, will be given over Radio Station WBZ tonight by Bill Jones, ace American cameraman

Interviewed from 7:45 to 8 p. m. by Newcomb F. Thompson, Boston Evening American radio editor, Jones will tell a number of thrilling stories of excitement in the search for exclusive news pictures.

He will also tell, from first hand experience how the marvellous speed lighting system, invented by Prof. Harold Edgerton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, makes possible the Boston Evening American's exclusive stop-action photos of sporting events and other difficult motion-subjects.

Jones' broadcast will be on the air in interest of the Press Photographers' Ball, to be held March 27 at the Copley-Plaza.

Leeds Off on Long Cruise to South Seas

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—William B. Leeds, heir to the tin-plate fortune, sailed yesterday aboard his $1,900,000 yacht Moana for a five months' cruise to the South seas, where he will gather rare flora and fauna for the American Museum of Natural History.

Leeds was accompanied by his wife, the former Olive Hamilton, an Atlantic City telephone operator whom he rescued from a capsized rowboat in 1936.

Wethern's Opens Pin Money Hat Shop

Wethern's of Boston have introduced a new idea in low-priced shops. Their "pin money hat terrace," which specializes in low-priced hats for women, is situated on the second floor instead of the usual basement location.

All styles of hats, designed by famous French and American creators, are available at moderate prices in modern surroundings.

AUSTEN LAKE

Florida--Museum Of Living Oddities

BRADENTON, Fla., March 15.

FLORIDA, WHICH LIES ON THE U. S. MAP like a great, geographical cow's udder, is a singular and hallucinated world. Not because a portion of the tourist population drink gin for breakfast, wander around in satin slacks and generally search for a year's fun in two weeks. For one thing, religion is a business here, with little travelling tent-churches and long-haired, unordained pastors who shout sermons on lava, ash and brimstone for a silver collection. There's one down the street with a red-lettered streamer over the front, "The Non-Pentecostal Brotherhood" and advertises "Salvation in seven easy doses." Across the street is a wandering skin-show of kootch dancers, who shake their meaty silhouettes against a silk curtain, and for an extra dime displays the "genuine and authentic death car" in which Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, the co-educational bank bandits, met fate from federal bullets.

AUSTEN LAKE

Down the road a few miles lies the reptile farm of "Texas Jim" Mitchell. A white adobe wall encloses concrete pits where diamond back rattlers make locust sounds with their tails, and alligators sun with splinter tooth grins. Mrs. Mitchell wears a costume of snake skins, cans the meat for canapes and renders the oil for rheumatism. And beyond that is a Negro prison colony where melancholy men of every shade between licorice and whiskey color live in corrugated tin huts, wear candy-striped dungarees, walk spraddle legged with chains and iron balls riveted to their ankles and are watched by slit-eyed deputies with shotguns in the angle of their arms. The prisoners work on the roads and sing doleful chanties . . . "Boss man, whin uh git mah chittlin's . . ."

IN THE CENTER OF A SCRUB WILDERNESS, with abortive pines, pin-firs and a deep tangles of palmetto and witch grass, is the Ringling Museum, which houses art treasures estimated at $20,000,000—a great, pink mausoleum where occasional visitors echo their heel clicks through deserted halls. And beyond that the half-built and abandoned waterfront palace where a syndicate of money-maniacs proposed a great tourist center, with Venetian lagoons, gondoliers and a Pan-American landing field—now gone back to the jungle and inhabited by pelicans.

All right! Down the road a piece is a Seminole Indian encampment where unwashed, sallow-skinned women in multi-colored skirts do a standstill dance with wiggling torsos for a coin and sell cheap gauds made in New York. And beyond that a monkey jungle where imported simians perform antics through the trees or sit sorrowfully searching their hides for nits.

And the inevitable trailer camps which spot the roadsides—there is one behind the Bees hotel and another behind that of the Red Sox; groves where permanent caravans aries are provided with piped water, police protection and night beacons. People who in the autumn of their lives have surrendered to the call of the open road—a nomad dentist, a rolling pastry shop, an itinerant blacksmith. There are sutler's stands, stocked with tinned foods and smoked meats, whose prices are regulated by the authorities. Provision wagons from downtown stores peddle their wares and deliver orders—people questing quiet adventure beyond the horizon, people with their ears tuned to nature's undertones, people who follow the seasons until, at last, their own winter comes.

BRIMSEK SPURS BRUINS INTO N. H. L. PLAYOFFS

You can start making your reservations for the first round of the Stanley Cup play-offs now. The Bruins clinched the Prince of Wales Trophy by playing the Rangers to a scoreless tie in New York last night, and regardless of the outcome against the Canadiens at the Garden Sunday night, the B'S are home on top of the National Hockey League.

There was a great deal of drama to that windup in the Madison Square Garden as Frankie Zero Brimsek made Lester Patrick virtually eat a remark made earlier in the year.

The Silver Haired Ranger pilot gleefully told everybody after the blue Shirts had whipped the Bruins four times and tied in a fifth engagement, that the Rangers had discovered Brimsek's weakness.

If they did, Brimsek must have found it, too, for all the Zero kid did was to hold the Rangers scoreless last night, and beat them twice before that.

PLAUDITS FOR ZERO KID

New York writers went into superlatives over the cage work of Frankie. He did just about everything six acrobats could do at one time and never missed once.

Kerr was great, too, but the Rangers were doing the pressing and in view of that, the plaudits must go to Brimsek.

Now that the pressure is at an end, the Bruins will return home today workout lightly tomorrow and then coast through Sunday night's affair with the fretful Canadiens.

The opening game of the play-offs start in New York Tuesday night, and the two clubs then re-

FREEZE-OUT by Mr. Zero and the Prince of Wales Trophy remains with the Bruins for the third straight year. Frankie Brimsek (No. 1 and known to hockey as Mr. Zero) piles up Phil Watson (No. 7) on the lip of the goal and batters the puck aside to the stick of teammate Milt Schmidt (No. 15) who takes it out of the danger zone. Capt. Dit Clapper (No. 5) of the Bruins counts out the unlucky Watson.

Wall St. Scorns Yanks With 4 Million Price Tag

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees, owned by the heirs of Col. Jacob Ruppert, has been "hawked" in Wall St. for some time with a $4,000,000 price tag, well informed financial circles told the Associated Press today.

So far, however, these sources said, the best offer has been $2,000,000, with financiers admitting they might be willing to go a trifle higher for baseball's leading ball club.

KENNEDY INTERESTED

It was not indicated whether the $2,000,000 was the price for just the Yankees or the entire farm system, which some have evaluated as high as $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Madison Square Garden Corp. for one is said to be interested in the purchase of the club but has made no definite offer since the price is considered too high.

Another source said Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, sent out several feelers on his recent visit to this country but no definite action was taken. A New England syldicate, including Gov. Francis. Murphy of New Hampshire, was said to be connected with Kennedy.

DENIES MURPHY ANGLE

Meanwhile, Byron Clark, Jr., attorney for the late Jacob Ruppert's estate, returned to St. Petersburg, Fla., from a yachting trip and denied the Yankees had been sold to Governor Murphy or that any negotiations with other individuals were pending.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," Clark said. "I never saw Murphy in my life and I never heard about him being interested in the ball club until I read it in the papers today."

English Girl Thrills Ice Fans

Belitta, blonde English figure skating queen, stole the limelight of the second night's performance of the European Ice Revue at the Boston Garden last night as more than 6000 were in attendance.

The blonde beauty was at her best and scored a decided hit with the fans. She was called back for encores a number of times.

The Simpson sisters also put on a grand exhibition. The show continues tonight, with the third performance followed by a matinee showing tomorrow and the climax in the evening.

Andy K. Real Threat In Kentucky Derby

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Miss Secretary, take a letter, please, to Bimelech, care of Col. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Stock Farm, Lexington, Ky.:

"Dear Bimmie:

"Andy K. can run straight now.

"What's more, he ain't foolin' this year.

"He says so himself—not by word of mouth, of course, but by the way he has come out of his ailments, by the way he's grown to a fine, upstanding young man over the winter, and, most particularly, by the way he's been training out at Belmont Park ever since he came up from the farm in Delaware."

Watching him work of a morning, you are convinced that Jack Hugh's big boy is no more like the ailing colt who finished four lengths back of Bimelech in the Pimlico Futurity last November than your shiny, new, 12-cylinder job is like the jallopy you traded for it.

FORELEG O. K. AGAIN

His left foreleg, which went bad earlier last year than a lot of folks suspected, was fired and is now sound as a dollar. His mouth, which cut as easily as a piece of tender beefsteak has healed and is as strong now as the next fellow's.

Around the Maryland stable quarters—for all around Belmont—you hear that Amelia Andy is planning a surprise for Col. Bradley a top heavy favorite in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, the Belmont and any other stakes you might mention.

Rody Purce, who has been supervising Andy's training since he first came out last year, is "positively delighted" at the way things have been going.

"Andy has put on close to a hundred pounds in weight and has grown about half a hand taller," he explained today. "We've been breezing him a few times and he has been going good."

FULL OF PEP

At Parke Spoke, the Millsdale "triple crown" hope took the exercise track with half a dozen barnmates, and the way he pranced around he might just as well have been asking out loud, "Ow, let me run." He breezed three-eighths in :37 2-5, pulled up the half in 521-5.

And there was no suggestion of the swerving that handicapped his slashing speed, that caused his disqualification from two victories last year.

Already the Cincinnati papers are telling the fans not to let those Grape Fruit League beatings get 'em down.

Davey O'Brien will marry his heart, Miss Frances Buster, as soon as she graduates from Texas Christian in June . . . Bill Hayes, the millionaire umpire, dropped 35 pounds toiling in the Piedmont League last summer—and won't be back.

The colorful Fordham-St. Mary's football rivalry (with two years to go) will be dropped as a result of the Slip Madigan ouster . . . The South will get a few peeks at Bill De Correvont, the grid star, when the Northwestern U. baseball team begins a Dixie tour next week.

• • •

Leo Durocher: "Ded Evans and Boots Poffenberger are two of God's noble creatures whom I couldn't know how to dislike . . . They were both alike except in one respect . . . That was in their arithmetic . . . If each had 18 beers, Evans would admit 18 . . . but boots never could remember more than four."

Milky Way Farm Nominates Five

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 15 (AP) Women owners appear likely to wrest major laurels from their male competitors in the $2500 Ben Ali Handicap, a feature of the Keeneland spring race meeting April 11-25.

Nominations announced today showed more than half of the race's eligibles owned by women.

The race is for three-year-olds and up for a distance of a mile and one-sixteenth.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, owner of Milky Way farm stable, led the list with five nominees. They are Mountain Ridge, Up the Creek, Favorite Son, Magic Key and No Competition.

Mrs. Payne Whitney named Armor Bearer, Day Off and Equilibrium from her Greentree stable. A highly-regarded three-year-old prospect, Calls to Colors, was nominated by Mrs. C. S. Payson.

Arrayed against the women's entries will be such horses as Easy Mon from Warren Wright's Calumet farm, Viscounty from E. F. Woodward's Valdina farms and Heather Broom, owned by John Hay Whitney.

EX-CHAMP TUTORS ROSLINDALE BOWLERS ENTERED IN AMERICAN-RECORD TOURNEY

By PINFALL

Time is getting short—just two weeks from tomorrow the Great American-Record-Advertiser Fifth Annual Diamond Medal Bowling Tourney for New England championships opens at the spacious Huntington Club Alleys.

Large insurance plants, industrial factories, social clubs, recreational centers, high schools, colleges and other groups are now preparing large entry lists for every available amateur class in hopes of bringing home one of the coveted diamond-studded medals emblematic of the New England championship.

Individuals, too, are forwarding entries in hopes of taking singles honors, for every kegler knows that in a three-string total anybody who has ever done any bowling to speak of has a chance to come through with a title.

The first team entry from outside Greater Boston arrived in the mail this morning from Fitchburg with a note that there will be other teams, doubles and singles entries on the way in a short while.

Last year Dorothy Yando, a Fitchburg High School girl, won the girls' prize with an amazing three-string total of 293, and this served as an impetus to every bowler in Fitchburg, and that city now has hopes of bringing back more than one championship this year.

But the citizens of Fitchburg have quite a task on their hands for every other bowling center in New England has the same idea.

Joe Rubbicco, winner of the open singles the first year of the bowling championships who is now managing the Roslindale Alleys, has been priming several Roslindale residents for the big event

Ferris Puts O. K. On Maki Status

NEW YORK, March 15 (INS)—Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., today said Taisto Maki would not peril his amateur status by competing against Gregory Rice and Don Lash, and expressed surprise that the question had been raised by the Finnish legation in Washington.

"The American runners are amateurs and the Finnish relief fund meet here March 30 or 31 is A. A. U. sanctioned," Ferris explained.

Woodruff Hailed Best Half-Miler Of All Time

HANOVER, N. H., March 15 (AP)—After being denied admission to trackdom's select circle of record-breakers for five years, John Woodruff, Olympic champion, gloated over two indoor marks today and the world hailed him as the fastest half-miler in history.

Woodruff ran 880 yards against a handicapped field in 1 47.7 at the rural Dartmouth track carnival. That time was 1.5 seconds faster than the fastest half mile ever run on Dana, on which England's Syd Wooderson has been awaiting official credit for two years.

Wasn't erasing the half mile record of 1 48.8 chalked up by John Borican last year, Woodruff was caught in 1 47 flat the 800 meter route. That clocking wiped out Borican's 1 48.2 record for the metric distance.

Another Negro star shattering two records in one event was New York University's Jimmy Herbert, who scratched two 27-year-old records from the indoor list when he ran 400 meters in 47.9 seconds and the quarter-mile in 44.4. He wiped out the marks of 49.6 seconds which have stood for both of those events since Tom Halpin of the Boston A. A. set them a. Buffalo 27 years ago.

NIPS BOSTON QUARTET

Borican lowered his own month old indoor three-quarter mile mark from 3:02.6 to 3:01.2 without exerting himself greatly.

An hour's rest so revived Herbert that he anchored the New York University mile relay team into a hard-won 3:15 victory over a strong Boston A. A. quartet. The time was two-tenths sponge diving colony, where generations of these olive-skinned people have been wresting livings from the salty depths and strolling on the bottom of the gulf among the sting-rays, barracuda, sharks and sawfish.

You won't find the Nick Gonopopolouses, the Mike Moutsotsoes or the Jim Ginopouleses among the holders of the A. A. U. aquatic records. But when it comes to diving, these lean folk with skins drawn tight as drumheads across their cheeks are the greatest marine athletes in the world.

FURTHER NORTH ON THE TAMIAMI TRAIL, a ribbon of concrete which passes through tropical, black water bogs where razor-back hogs root, a Florida panther, big as a calf, slid out of the underbrush, showed twin-flashlight eyes in the gloom and oozed away. Heron, egrets and brilliant plumaged waterfowl whirred from the shallows and unseen things stirred the ground foliage.

Further north is Sam Baker's alligator farm, where his pools are alive with potential suitcases, handbags and ladies' sport shoes—creatures as short as your arm or as long as a yacht. Sam sells some to the zoos, others to novelty leather firms and keeps the rest as a tourist spectacle. For half a dollar a muscular Negro called Pom will wade in and wrestle a log-like reptile ashore, holding its buzz-saw snout with one hand and its lethal tail with the other.

Then there is the Morgan peacock ranch, where the supercilious fowl wander in flocks and raise their raucous clamor. You can buy a matched pair of peafowl for $75, including the drab brown lady peahen—or the gorgeous, lordly male, with its rainbow tail, for $50. Or, if you don't want a peacock you can buy a hot dog or send a penny postcard—the Morgans aren't money hungry.

So, don't you call that a singular and hallucinated world?

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

ARTURO GODOY, Chilean thumper who went 15 blistering rounds with Joe Louis, isn't sharing in the million dollars that is being made from the moving picture of his tussle with the "Brown Bomber" . . . Godoy sold his moving picture interests before the bout for $1700 . . . The Chilean had a 17½ per cent interest in the pictures . . . If Godoy had gambled on his ability to make a good showing against Louis, his earnings from the pictures alone would have been $150,000 to $175,000.

Godoy is touring the Pacific Coast with Billy McCarney acting as front man for Manager Al Weill . . . Weill refuses to sign Lou Ambers, world's lightweight champion, for future bouts with the Twentieth Century until Mike Jacobs guarantees Godoy another title bout with Louis . . . Louis and Johnny Paychek are training at New York camps for their Garden bout . . . Paychek does not intend to do any training in public other than for members of the press.

Georges Carpentier adopted such a policy while getting ready for his bout with Jack Dempsey . . . Tex Rickard was fearful that if the public realized that Carpentier was only a heavy middleweight that few people would attend the bout . . . The Twentieth Century Club management probably believes that Paychek would not help the gate receipts by public training.

At this early date I am willing to go out on a limb and pick Louis to knock out Paychek inside of five rounds.

Chmielewski Seeks Bout With Garcia

HENRY CHMIELEWSKI, New England middleweight champion who collides with Howell King of Detroit in a ten-round bout at Mechanics Hall, Worcester tonight will seek a New York bout with Ceferino Garcia if he wins . . . Chmielewski and King should furnish a torrid battle . . . When they clashed in Worcester last Fall, Chmielewski won the decision after an uphill battle . . . King had Chmielewski on the floor twice in the second round . . . King was leading going into the sixth round . . . Harry Kelley's "Polish Machine Gun" then rallied, dropped King to the canvas for a knockdown, and scored a victory . . . You may look to see Chmielewski and King each winging away for a knockout tonight.

Johnny Skor, Johnny Buckley's latest heavyweight hopeful, is recovering from a sprained ankle . . . Skor will spend the Easter holidays with his family in Baltimore after which he will train for an April 9 match in New York . . . The New York show will be for the police relief fund, and will find former boxers now on the New York force swinging punches . . . The show will draw $25,000 according to Johnny Broderick of the Broadway squad . . . Johnny isn't one of the boxers carded to sweep into action . . . If he were, I would have a wager on him to win.

Broderick has been knocking out so-called hoodlums and tough individuals in the Broadway area for 15 years . . . Johnny has yet to lose a decision . . . During a jail break at the Tombs, Broderick crawled into the jail yard, got into firing position, and led the charge that restored order . . . Broderick at different times was bodyguard for Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey . . . He gets his chief pleasure out of trouble.

Danno Would Like to Test The Angell

DANNO O'MAHONY, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, would like to get a crack at The Angell, grotesque mat star from France . . . O'Mahony believes that it will take an aggressive wrestler who can do some punching to beat The Angell . . . The giant's size does not worry O'Mahony, who points to the way he beat Strangler Lewis a few years ago . . . I saw Lewis the day following his bout with O'Mahony and he had suffered a cut over his left eye, a gash on his left cheek, and a bad cut on his lower lip . . . These wounds were inflicted by Danno's right duke . . . O'Mahony used his "Irish Whip" to win over the Strangler, and he thinks the same method of attack would halt The Angell.

The public would like to see The Angell tested by a top grappler like O'Mahony . . . Since coming to Boston The Angell has only wrestled second-class opponents . . . Carl Pojello cannot be blamed for pitting The Angell against inferior opposition as long as possible . . . In the interest of wrestling, Paul Bowser should insist The Angell take on Danno, Ed Don George or Jim Londos.

In Buffalo the other night a capacity crowd of 9200 persons jammed the Coliseum to get a peek at The Angel . . . Wrestling was pretty dead until Paul Bowser signed The Angell.

It was also Bowser who discovered Gus Sonnenberg and made him the greatest box office attraction in the history of wrestling . . . Paul also promoted most of O'Mahony's American bouts.

* * *

THE SELLOUT crowd at the Olympics game at the Arena last night was a tribute to Walter Brown . . . It was Walter who organized the Olympics and who adopted a popular price scale to make the club so popular . . . The ice carnival at the Garden made it necessary to drop the Olympics playoff game in at the Arena . . . The same game would have sold out the Garden.

Ski Scribblings

BY "TAP" GOODENOUGH

YOUTH MUST BE SERVED—ON SKIS! Junior skiers from all over New England will cut capers and christies at the annual field day of the junior committee of the U. S. E. A. S. A. tomorrow and Sunday in North Conway, N. H. Many of the competitors are coming from grade and high schools at Woodstock and Rutland, Vt., as well as from Hanover, Lebanon, Littleton, Franconia and Manchester in the Granite State . . .

Divided into two major events, the Field Day is open only to team entries composed of three members each. The event scheduled for Saturday afternoon on the Russell Mountain slopes will consist of a series of demonstrations by the teams of the following fundamental maneuvers of skiing in this order: Climbing technique, snowplow turns, Stemmbogen, Stem Christie and Pure or Parallel Christie . . .

The second event, a slalom race, will be held on Sunday morning on Russell Mountain, and the victorious team with the highest scoring for the combined events will receive individual prizes and their names will be engraved on the handsome silver bowl which is to serve as a perpetual trophy . . .

Hannes Schneider, head instructor of the Eastern Slopes Ski School; Roland Peabody, who has taught a large group of junior skiers in the Franconia region, and Ford Saure, who has been promoting a similar project among Hanover's boys and girls, will be the judges. Teams showing a proficiency in correct technique stand the best chance of scoring.

Such a program is to be highly commended. Developing the youth of America on skis means better citizens in the making; men who will have learned the skiing code of fair play and good fellowship and a real "way of living!"

DOWNHILL DOINGS: The only sanctioned race scheduled for Sunday in New Hampshire is the Schussverein Club's annual downhill run on the Bear Mountain trail at Bartlett, where the best ski clubs and racers will vie for honors as they traverse this tricky and treacherous trail. Very few will complete the course without at least one fall. Dana Hinckley of the Schussverein is expected to star for the hosts. He wa a fast 10th on the Wildcat Trail last week . .

SKI BOOM: The schuss business has been booming this season, and skiing stock soars skyward! For the benefit of those who sneer the cold, sneer at snow, and scoffat skiers we are presenting a few figures that demonstrate how sports centers in New Hampshire have been gaining, thus contributing to the livelihood of residents in these towns: Take the Eastern Slope region; hotels here have gained more than 50 per cent in guests in the past few winters; payrolls, employes, capacity and gross incomes have all increased proportionately. All the hotels in the region take in about $2,500,000 during the ski season! . . .

The Eastern Slopes Ski school gave 12,000 lessons last winter and is now running ahead of that number! . . . The telephone company, telegraph company, postoffices and electric companies all report very substantial increases in business. The skimobile at Cranmore Mt. has already carried more than 90,000 passengers through February! . . .

In the Franconia Notch area the total winter business has gone up 50 per cent, the hotels gaining 20 per cent, ski instruction, garages and service stations, and entertainment up 50 per cent, and ski towns doing ten times the business they did last year! . . . The Cannon Mountain aerial tramway has conveyed 24,118 skiers through February, as against 18,639 for the same time last year . . .

The Gilford-Laconia Area estimated a 50 per cent business gain this season, with receipts of well over $5000 for rides on the chair lift and two other tows . . .

BROBERG RATED BEST IN POLL OF COACHES

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Gus Broberg of Dartmouth and Paul Kartluke of Syracuse were rated best among eastern college basketball players in a poll of 20 coaches conducted by the Daily Orange, Syracuse University student newspaper.

Broberg, who set a record in capturing the eastern intercollegiate scoring honors this season, was given 50 points of a possible 100 in the poll, Kartluke 48.

Named with Kartluke as center and Broberg as forward on an all-eastern first team were Red Stevens, N. Y. U. forward, Ralph Kaplowitz, N. Y. U. guard, and Si Labello, Long Island U., guard.

The coaches selected first and second teams and a list of five honorable mentions. Four points were allowed for each first place vote, two for second place and one for honorable mention.

Broberg, named by 16 coaches, won 10 first-place votes; Kartluke was named by 13 coaches and had 11 first-place votes.

Coaches participating in the poll were from Army, Boston U., C. C. N. Y., Colgate, Cornell, Duquesne, Harvard, L. I. U., Navy, N. Y. U., Niagara, Penn, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, St. John's, Syracuse and Villanova.

MEDWICK SITS TIGHT

ST. LOUIS, March 15 (INS)—Joe Medwick, one of the most stubborn of the 1940 baseball holdouts, said here he intended just to "sit tight" at his Sappington, Mo., home near St. Louis until his salary differences with the St. Louis Cardinals are adjusted.

He added that he was writing Branch Rickey, general manager of the Cardinals, to this effect in response to a letter he had received from Rickey expressing surprise that the slugging outfielder was in St. Louis while the Cardinals were at their St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp.

"That's easy to answer," Medwick said. "When I was in St. Petersburg until a week ago, no one came to see me, so I came home because it's cheaper to live here."

Hoppe, Chamaco On Undefeated List

CHICAGO, March 15 (INS)—Willie Hoppe of New York and Joe Chamaco of Mexico City today were the only entrants still undefeated in the world's three-cushion billiard championships.

Both Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., and Allen Hall fell from the undefeated ranks in yesterday's play. Arthur Thurnblad, Kenosha, Wis., beat Bozeman, 50-45, and Jake Schaefer, Jr., of Cleveland beat Hall 50-29.

New Bedford '5' Bows in N. E.'s

PORTLAND, Me., March 15 (AP)—Connecticut against Vermont, Maine against Rhode Island—that's the way the best among New England's schoolboy basketball teams line up for tonight's semi-finals in their 16th sectional tournament.

Favored Bassick High of Bridgeport, Conn., tangles with a scrappy Cathedral quintet from Burlington Vt., in the first game; Maine's diminutive champs, from Cheverus High of Portland, meet Pawtucket, R. I., the tourney's "dark horse," in the other.

Winners play off tomorrow night for the championship Bassick won a year ago, but had to relinquish when an ineligible boy was found on the roster.

In the most exciting of yesterday's first-round tilts, 15 year-old Ernest Calverly sparked Pawtucket to a 48-40 win over a stubborn New Bedford, Mass., five which had won the M. I. T. tourney.

17 Matches Slated For Colgate Team

HAMILTON, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Colgate University's tennis team will play 17 matches this spring, meeting four colleges on a southern trip.

The schedule includes: April 3, Davidson, away; 4, Richmond University, away; 5, V. M. I., away; 6, American University, away; May 14, Vermont, away; 15, Middlebury, away.

Bees Get Test

Squad Plays 2 Road Tilts

By BILL GRIMES

BRADENTON, Fla., March 15—Twenty-two Bees were en route to West Palm Beach today to take on Rochester tomorrow and the Phillies on Sunday.

Don French and Bill Posedel will do most of the pitching against the minor leaguers while Earley, Sullivan and Strincevich will toe the mound against the Phils.

Winning their first game of the year against the Cardinals 6 to 4, the Bees showed unusual power against the first string St. Louis pitchers, Cooper and Shoun, while the third Card hurler on the mound was Murray Dickson who won 20 games for Decatur in the Three I League two years ago and 22 for Houston last summer.

COME FROM BEHIND

The Cards, who had jumped into an early two-run lead, broke a 3-3 tie by putting over a run in the seventh.

Back came the Stengelese to register three times in their half.

Then, with one Redbird on base with one down in the first of the eighth, along came the rain to wash out the contest.

Led by John "Buddy" Hassett, who chased home three runs with two hits and Tony "Chick" Cuccinello, who collected a double and two singles the Swarm found Morton Cooper, "Lefty" Shoun and Murray Dickson for an even dozen blows.

POOR THROW COSTLY

The Gas House gang, paced by Hal Epps who helped himself to four straight bingles, also fashioned 12 safeties at the expense of Joe Callahan, Frank Lamanna, Tom Earley and George Barnicle.

The game-winning rally found Sebi Sisti reaching with one gone in the "lucky frame" on a poor throw by Ed Lake, enemy shortstop. That miscue, the only one committed by either side, proved most costly to the Cards.

PULL DOUBLE STEAL

Not satisfied, Hassett and "Cooch" worked a delayed double steal for a third tally.

Cooney was playing center this afternoon because Maxie West was too lame to perform after batting a foul ball down on his foot yesterday.

But Maxie wasn't too lame to pinch-hit in the third and bash out a triple which carried more than 400 feet on the fly.

East Boston's Joe Callahan started for the Tribe. He failed to get through the first frame. After yielding two hits, three walks and two runs, he was relieved by Lamanna, who went in with the sacks loaded and only one out and prevented further scoring

'Whizzer' White May Play for Giants

DENVER, March 15 (INE)—That Byron "Whizzer" White will give up his law books at Yale long enough to don the uniform of the New York Giants in a return to pro football next fall was the belief expressed today by "Molsy" Handler, assistant coach of the Chicago Cardinals.

Speaking of White, who still is the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, where he received $15,000 for the 1934 season before utilizing a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford University, Handler said the grapevine circuit in the league was spreading a report that "Whizzer" would be lured back into the pro fold by an attractive offer from the Giants.

Pics Collapse, Bow Out of Playoffs

By SAM BROGNA

In bringing to a close, probably for all time, their play in the Quebec Provincial Hockey League, the Boston Olympics gave loyal followers a demonstration of their worst hockey and how it should not be played if it is to pay dividends at the Arena the past fortnight.

With the exception of Ted Frazier who's brilliant goal tending stood out like a sore thumb, everything the other 'Pics did just seemed to be wrong and, as a result, were submerged 8 to 0 by the fast Lachine Rapides in the third and deciding contest of the semi-finals for the league crown. Lachine's win gives it the right to meet Sherbrooke in the finals.

With this miserable climax still seeming like a nightmare, even to themselves, the Olympics will probably rest for a week because of the Stanley Cup playoffs in the National League and then start a series of exhibition games in which leading sextets of Canada, namely Cornwall, Verdun and Quebec of the other senior loop and the New York Rover and one or two other members of the Eastern Amateur Circuit will be brought to the Garden.

It is hard for a fan that didn't see the game to read about eight goals being scored on a goalie and yet, have it said that he was the outstanding star of the game. But, in this case, it's so. Had it not been for his great tending, the score, in all probability, would have have been much larger.

There were at least a half dozen occasions on which he came out the victor in straight man-to-man duels with Lachine shot makers.

'GATE' BIG QUESTION ON HELSINKI GAMES

HELSINKI, March 15—J. W. Rangell, chairman of the Olympic games organizing committee, said today the final decision on whether to hold the games in Helsinki would be made next month.

Urho Kekkonen, vice-chairman, said that while there were certain technical difficulties the main question was whether enough people would attend to justify the heavy expenditures.

Despite technical problems, Lauri Miettinen, general secretary of the committee, said Finland owed it to the memory of fallen athletes to demonstrate the nation's athletic ability to the world.

Japan Won't Compete In Olympic Games

TOKYO, March 15 (AP)—Japan, because of the war with China, decided today it would not participate in the 1940 Olympic games even if they are held, possibly in Helsinki. The decision was reached by the Japanese organizing committee. For the same reason, Japan withdrew its invitation to hold the games in Tokyo.

U. S. Board Still Holds Depositors '40 Tickets

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP) — The New York office of the American Olympic Committee said today that it still had on hand deposits representing some $40,000 worth of tickets to the 1940 Olympic games.

The A. O. C. accepted 10 per cent deposits until the outbreak of the Russian-Finnish war last Sept. 3. At that time the deposits received represented a total of $51,000 in tickets. Since then, in response to an A. O. C. notice that refunds would be made in full, only $1100 in deposits (representing $11,000 in tickets) have been recalled.

The Olympic office also said that a deposit on housing accommodations for American visitors had been sent to Finland last July and August, and still was in the hands of Finnish officials.

Count Latour Reveals Olympic Conference

BRUSSELS, March 15 (A.P.)—Count Henri De Baillet Latour, president of the International Olympics Committee, said today that "the question of staging the 1940 Olympics in Helsinki is being given serious consideration."

turn home for clashes in Boston next Thursday and Sunday night.

Season ticket holders had better get down to the Garden early and grab their ducats, for tickets are really going to be scarce for the best four out of seven series with the Rangers to determine the club that goes into the final Stanley Cup round.

The first period was vigorous with four penalties being handed out, two to each team.

The middle period was held up shortly after it started when a gallery fan threw a sack of sandwiches at Cowley and Neil Colville, as they faced off in the Boston end. Referee Bill Stewart halted things until the ice was cleared and the fans were admonished over the public address system.

Brimsek was again phenomenal in his goal-mouth acrobatics in this period, and the Rangers had a bit hard luck when Mac Colville missed the edge from 10 feet out with Frankie out of position, for the only time all night.

The play was boisterous in that session too, but in the final chapter they were playing more cautiously, for a penalty might have been fatal at that stage. Rangers continued to press, but the Beantowners were trying for the tie which would give them the leagueload as well as a victory would. It was that way in the overtime, too, and the Boston six took little chances, only going in when they intercepted the rubber near the Ranger blue line.

Kerr at the other end was playing a brilliant game, too, and saved on Cain, Dumart and Hollett, who were in alone on him on different occasions in the overtime. Little Davie, who becomes the season's Vezina trophy winner, beat Cain, Jackson and Wiseman, who were in on him without another Ranger within 10 yards of them. Cain elected to take the shot, but after jockeying around with him until he was three feet away, Dave dropped to deny him.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—John Borican set new world records of 1:49.2 for 800 meters, and 1:49.8 for 880 yards on Dartmouth indoor track. Don Lash failed in two-mile record attempt, clocked in 9:01.

THREE YEARS AGO—College basketball coaches, by vote of 60-9, favored abolition of center jump; national rules committee accepted recommendation and abolished "tap-off" for one year's test.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Glenn Cunningham at Knights of Columbus meet beat Chuck Hornbostel, Indianapolis, in 1000-yard run, setting new world mark of 2:10.1.

SPRINGFIELD, March 15 (AP) —Keith Calef of Norway, Me., and Robert Ward of Kennebunk, Me., were elected today as co-captains of Springfield College's 1941 varsity hockey team.

Chimmy, King, Fit for Battle

WORCESTER, March 15—Henry Chmielewski, Polish, and Howell King, Detroit, were declared to be in excellent shape by commission doctors for their 10-round main event at Mechanics Hall here tonight.

Recently winner of the New England middleweight crown and already holding a decision over King, Chmielewski was being rated a 2 to 1 favorite in this non-title fray.

Undoubtedly the most improved fighter in the nation, a terrific hitter with either hand, the Polish pummeller is rapidly gaining prominence in fistic circles and is being hailed as the future world champion in the 160-pound division.

One of the largest crowds in the history of boxing in Worcester is expected to trek to Mechanics Hall to witness the slated slugfest. A greate crowd-pleaser, Chmielewski packs 'em in because he may always be depended upon to unleash one of his lightning punches which usually sends his opponent to the deck.

Matchmaker Johnny Lee has prepared a strong supporting card to go with the main event, and there should be plenty of leather thrown throughout the program.

B.C. Hockey Team Elects '41 Pilot

Boston College's sextet elects a captain for the 1941 season this afternoon at the Heights.

Three juniors eligible to lead the Eagles in '41 include Walter Cuccin of Malden, Joe Maguire of Brighton and Johnny Pryor of Framingham.

Pryor was the third highest scorer this year and was been a standout player during his three years at Boston College.

Cuenin missed the last part of the season after being injured in an automobile accident while en route to Hanover, N. H., for the second Dartmouth game.

Sox' Owen Sad

MISSES WALKER'S ANTICS

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 15—Glad as he is to be with the Red Sox, Marvin Owen has one regret. For the first time in his major league career which started in 1933, the Detroit and Chicago alumnus is not on the same club with his old pal and roomie, Gee Walker.

Owen

Unlike Mickey Cochrane or Jimmy Dykes, Marv used to get a lot of laughs out of the eccentric baserunner, who a few years back was the idol of Detroit fandom.

Marv likes to recall the time that Gee was on second, Goslin on third when the Tigers were playing the Yanks. The ball was at Crosetti's feet, and every time Frankie went to pick it up Walker would give him the shoulder, so that eventually the umpire called Goslin out for interference, and some more gray hairs appeared in Cochrane's scalp.

ROBBED, BURNED UP

And the time Gee tied up the second game in the 1934 World Series with a baseHit, and then was promptly caught off first base with what would have been the winning run. And the time he was engaging Doc Cramer in a ribbing duel.

Doc robbing him of a triple by a sensational catch in right center . . . Doc throwing the ball into first base . . . Walker just rounding the bag, catching the ball bare-handed and throwing it right back at Cramer, hoping to maim him, he was so burned up.

Crosetti

And the time he hit a grounder to short with two out, and ran to third instead of first . . . and how surprised he was when Fox immediately took his place in left field.

"WALKER GREAT HITTER"

And the time the Tigers were playing the White Sox and the ball was at Appling's feet . . . when Walker picked it up, tucked it into his shirt front, and ambled on to third the while Appling was looking under the bag, in the outfield and everywhere else for the ball.

"Yeh, that Walker was a card, all right. And if he did drive those managers crazy with his base running, there were plenty of times he made them happy with his base hits. He's a great hitter, my old roomie.

"Just the same, it's a treat to be with this club. This is a pennant contender, and that means more dough naturally. With a little pitching to support hitters like Foxx, Williams, Cronin, Tabor and that young Doerr, we ought to go places.

Doerr

"That Wilson ought to be good for 20 wins in any league. Boy, he's really got something. And Rich looked invincible when I saw him last spring.

"You got reserves here, too. You know we'd have won the pennant for the third straight time in 1936 if our infield hadn't fallen apart. There's no danger of that happening here.
